NORWAY OFFERS THRONE TO DANE

Emperor William Might Intervene in Behalf of Swedish Dynasty.

REBUFFS STORTHING

King Oscar Refuses to Receive Deputation—Crown Prince Goes to Stockholm.

PETITION FOR THE PRESIDENT

[Associated Press Cable to The Gazette.]

COPENHAGEN, June 8.—It is reported that the Norwegian government, in view of King Oscar's apparently definite refusal to consider the offer of the Norwegian storthing to place a prince of the house of Bernadotte on the throne, has privately approached the Danish royal family to ascertain if an offer of the throne would be received by a member of it, preferably Prince Charles, son of Crown Prince Frederick. The general opinion expressed here is that such an offer would be refused. According to reports from Stockholm, King Oscar may be induced to reverse his decision and to favorably regard the offer of the throne for a member of his house. Leading Swedish politicians are much divided over the question, which, it is understood, will not be definitely decided prior to the extraordinary session of the riksdag.

A dispatch from Stockholm states that King Oscar has refused to receive the deputation appointed to present to him the storthing's address. The king's message to the president of the storthing said:

King's Message of Refusal.

"As I do not recognize the revolutionary steps which the storthing, in violation of the constitution and act of union and in revolt against its king has unfortunately taken, I decline to receive the deputation."

Crown Prince Gustave passed through Copenhagen tonight on his journey from Berlin. He was received by Crown Prince Frederick of Denmark and appeared much concerned over the situation. The two crown princes conversed at length in the station before the train left for Stockholm. Crown Prince Gustave had a long interview on the crisis with Emperor William before he left Berlin, and it is understood the emperor is not unwilling to intervene in favor of the Swedish dynasty. An authority intimately connected with the emperor confirms a rumor that he abandoned his trip to Norway at the request of Crown Prince Gustave.

The general opinion is that the crown prince was more irreconcilable to Norway than was his father, and there is no doubt that he induced King Oscar to veto the consular bill. Many English and American tourists who arrived here on their way to Norway have abandoned the trip owing to the revolution.

May Become Republic.

Authoritative information received from Norwegian circles reports the majority of Norwegians as opposed to giving the throne to a prince of the house of Bernadotte. It is stated that if King Oscar should definitely refuse the throne for a member of his family, and that if the Danish royal family should likewise refuse, Norway will become a republic, and that this is favored by the mass of the people.

The storthing, however, believes that the offer of the throne to a prince of the house of Bernadotte would facilitate future negotiations with Sweden over the common interests of both countries. It is understood that these negotiations would be begun as soon as possible after special envoys have been sent to the powers requesting the recognition of the independence of Norway. Dr. Hagerup, former premier and now minister at Stockholm; Sigurd Ibsen and Fridjof Nansen, the Arctic explorer, are now mentioned as envoys to the powers. All those in the civil service of Norway have announced their adhesion to the new government and all the generals have taken the oath of allegiance.

There is no excitement reported either in Norway or Sweden. Ovations in honor of King Oscar continue at Stockholm, where there is a firm determination not to recognize the action of the storthing as definitely achieving the disruption of the union.

Will Raise Flag Today.

CHRISTIANIA, June 8.—The new Norwegian flag will be hoisted throughout the country at 10 a. m. tomorrow. The council of defense has ordered the flags over all the fortresses and warships of Norway to be saluted with 21 guns. The substitution of the new for the old flag at Christiania will take place at Akershus fort in the presence of the garrison of the capital. Loyalty as been demanded of the army and the organization of the new government proceeds.

STOCKHOLM, June 8.—The Nya Dalgit Allehanda says: "It is pleasing to see the manly and dignified manner in which the king heads the national movement and the great confidence the people have in their old paternal monarch. The people and the king clearly know their object, but efforts to obtain this object must be made by experienced men. Eminent politicians from the different groups in the diet will have the opportunity of deliberating with members of the government before the opening of the diet. This is necessary, as the present cabinet, wearing, as it does, distinctly the stamp of a provisional institution, finds it a prestige deprecating at a moment when prestige is most wanted. The return of the crown prince will also contribute to the clearing of the situation."

A Warning to Austria.

VIENNA, June 8.—The situation in Sweden and Norway is attracting much interest in Austria and Hungary. This is especially true of Budapest, where the condition of Norway and Sweden and of Austria and Hungary are compared. The Hirlap of Budapest says significantly:

"King Oscar thought it was possible to rule a nation against its will, but developments have proved this to be impossible. The Viennese at the Hofburg will now perceive that it is impossible to maintain even a personal union between two states against the desire of one of them."

BOSTON, Jue 8.—Norwegian-born American citizens resident in Boston are preparing a petition to President Roosevelt asking that this government recognise Norway as a free and independent nation. The petition is headed by George F. Frolich and Henry L. Lockwood, merchants. Besides circulating the petition locally, Mr. Frolich sent a large number of telegrams to Norwegian-born citizens in other sections of this country, asking them to put out similar petitions at once and forward them to Washington.

ADDRESS TO KING, PEOPLE'S THOUGHTS

By Bjornstjerne Bjornson.

LILLEHAMER, June 8.—The address to the king expresses the thought of the people. The dissolution of the union is a blessing for all Northern Europe and separates two nations entirely different in thought and feeling, permitting them to pursue their national aims in their own distinct ways unhampered by a union which had long since proven a barrier to progress.

NANSEN SAYS SEPARATION COULD NOT BE AVOIDED

Step Taken by Norwegians Imperative Because the Crown Was Without Responsible Ministry. No Ill-Feeling Toward Sweden.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

LONDON, June 8.—The Standard this morning prints the following telegram from Prof. Nansen:

"What happened yesterday could no longer be avoided. The crown was compelled to refuse to sanction the proposed separate consular law, else it would have lost Sweden. We understand this without bitterness, but no Norwegian could take the responsibility for action of this kind against the unanimous will of the nation and against the constitution which knows no king.

"Without a responsible ministry the crown had consequently placed itself out of function in not being able to form a new ministry, and as the country cannot remain without a government, the step of yesterday becomes imperative.

"As there is no way back, our hope is that the Swedish people will also understand that this was the best solution of the present difficult crisis and that this is the only way in which a happy future for both countries can be secured, for a continuation of the quarreling would be perpetual danger and weakness.

"We trust that fait accompli will meet with no objection abroad and that everything will develop quickly and normally to the benefit of both peoples. I may add that there is no ill feeling toward Sweden or the royal house, which is clearly proven by our wish to see a Bernadotte prince on the Norwegian throne."

The Situation in the Far North.

ABUSES PRIVILEGE OF CONVENTION

Philadelphia Newspaper Man Attacks Gov. Pennypacker and Senator Quay in Speech.

CAUSES MUCH INDIGNATION

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]

GUTHRIE, OKLA., June 8.—T. H. Harter, vice president of the Pennsylvania Editorial association, made the following statement tonight:

"A large majority of the Pennsylvania delegates to the National Editorial association desire to express their protest against the sentiments contained in a paper read here today before the National Editorial association by the representative of a certain prominent Philadelphia paper defamatory to the memory of the late Matthew Stanley Quay.

"The speaker to whom had been assigned 'Muzzles in Pennsylvania,' abused the privilege of the platform and took advantage of his position to assault the character of Pennsylvania's late distinguished statesman, to which the delegates were not accorded opportunity to reply, and he also devoted the major portion of his address to a brazen, unwarranted exploitation of the newspaper with which he is connected. This the Pennsylvania delegation resents as a body and deplores the lack of judgment which makes necessary this statement on our part."

The above statement was made as the result of the action of James A. Benn, city editor of the Philadelphia North American, in attacking Gov. Pennypacker and the late Senator Quay in an address before the association today, which has caused a fight in the Pennsylvania delegation which may be carried before the association tomorrow. His action took Quay's friends in the convention by surprise. Tonight F. B. McKee of Freeport, T. H. Harter of Bellefonte and F. S. Phelps of Erie assert that they will present a resolution tomorrow condemning Mr. Benn's course.

Mr. Benn in his address reviewed the organization of the so-called Quay "machine" and the events leading up to the passage of the Salus-Grady law. He blamed Mr. Quay for this severe law, declaring that it was Quay's governor that instigated it. He closed by saying:

"There never was a Quay or Pennypacker born who could form or invent a measure that would restrict the liberty of the press or hamper it in its constitutional right of public utterance. The Quays of Pennsylvania desire unsmirched biographies; tell them to leave behind them records free from stain. If the Pennypackers of Pennsylvania, or any other commonwealth in this union, desire effectually to muzzle the press, they must hie themselves to some other land than that in the fundamental law of which it is written the freedom of the press ought not to be restricted."

BROTHER'S HEROISM IS UNAVAILING TO SISTER

Child Dies When All Is Ready for the Operation of Grafting Skin from Boy's Arm.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The death of Lydia Finnegan, 11 years of age, ended the operation by which it was hoped to graft skin from the arm of her half brother, Edward Ickes, on the girl's arm. She died on Tuesday evening at the Methodist hospital, five hours after she and her brother had been bound securely to their cots, with a loosened flap of the skin from the boy's forearm folded over her chin.

Had not death come to relieve the child from suffering the two would have been bound together in one position, without moving, for 10 days, and both would have endured untold agony. The girl's physical condition, weakened by a year of suffering, was not able to stand the strain of the operation. She did not recover readily from the effects of the other administered when the operation was begun, and a few hours later she was seen to be weakening rapidly.

When it became obvious she could not live until the skin would have an opportunity to attach itself to her flesh the bands were cut, the flap of skin folded back on the boy's arm and both were released.

Heroic efforts were made to prolong the life of the girl, but she died at sunset. The fact of her death was kept secret, so the news could be broken gently to the child's mother. Their home is at Coal Forge, a small village in Butler county, Pennsylvania.

The little girl was severely burned by a wax flower pinned to her breast catching fire a year ago. Despite the efforts of local surgeons, her wounds never healed, and her body and face were sorely scarred. Minor skin grafting from her own arm, with incessant care, healed most of the sores, but that on her chin and one other remained nude of skin and drained her vitality. Her very life depended on the success of the operation. Had it not been undertaken she would have died in a short time.

PROSECUTION IS PROMISED.

Federal Grand Jury Is Informed That No Favoritism Will Be Shown in Beef Trust Cases.

CHICAGO, June 8.—Upon advice from United States District Attorney Morrison at Washington the federal grand jury investigating the "beef trust" began the canvass of testimony today with a view of classification to support various indictments expected to be returned.

According to advices received from Mr. Morrison the department of justice declined to interfere with the direction of the grand jury and Assistant United States Attorney Goodman was instructed to inform the grand jury that any indictments returned would be prosecuted to the fullest extent and that no favoritism would be shown.

SUPREME BENCH VACANCY FILLED

Judge John Stewart of Chambersburg Is Appointed by Gov. Pennypacker.

DISTINGUISHED PUBLIC CAREER

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau
HARRISBURG, PA., June 8.

Gov. Pennypacker this evening made the formal announcement that he had appointed Judge John Stewart of Chambersburg to the vacancy on the supreme court bench created by the recent death of Judge Dean of Blair county. A number of prominent judges were mentioned for the place, but in the last three days they sifted down to four. Judge Stewart and Judges Rice and Orlady of the superior court and Judge McIlvaine of Washington county.

Judge Stewart is a close friend of Gov. Pennypacker and when Judge Stewart was an independent Republican candidate for governor in 1882, he was actively supported by Gov. Pennypacker, who was practicing law in Philadelphia. Stewart's candidacy resulted in the defeat of James A. Beaver, the regular Republican candidate, and the election of Robert E. Pattison, Democrat.

Last week the governor and Judge Stewart were the principal speakers at the dedication of a monument to revolutionary soldiers at Middle Spring, and there is a rumor that at that meeting the governor in his quiet way felt the ground as to Judge Stewart's acceptance. Judge Stewart's term on the Franklin county bench would have expired in 1909. The governor will appoint his successor who will serve until January 1 next.

Judge Stewart's appointment runs until the first Monday of next January, when he will be recommissioned for the full term of 21 years, if he shall be elected in November. It is thought that he will be nominated by the Republican state committee for the full terms.

For more than a quarter of a century Judge Stewart's name has been a familiar one in legal, political and social circles in all parts of Pennsylvania. He goes on the supreme bench after presiding for 10 years over the courts of his home county. The high esteem in which he is held by his home people was demonstrated when, in 1888, he was elected without opposition to succeed himself on the bench.

In 1857 Judge Stewart was graduated from Princeton. After a short time spent at teaching, he was admitted to the bar. He is one of the few survivors of the convention which renominated Lincoln in Baltimore in 1864. At the Chicago convention of 1884 he was one of Blaine's trusted lieutenants and took an active part in the proceedings. He was a member of the state senate from 1881 to 1885.

Judge Stewart's record as a soldier is in keeping with his record since the days of the war. He was adjutant of the One

JAPAN'S TERMS STILL HIDDEN

President Can Move But Little Farther Until They Are Disclosed.

HEARS FROM CZAR

Ambassador Meyer Reports Nicholas Lent Gracious Ear to Peace Advances.

SENDS NO PERSONAL REPLY

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.

From out the silence the president has imposed upon those who work with him in the effort for peace, there has come official asurance that the situation is "encouraging but embryonic." The encouragement is due to the fact that the czar did not rebuff the president's expression of willingness to asist peace, conveyed to Tsarskoe-Selo yesterday by Ambassador Meyer. The situation is regarded as embryonic by the president because he has not been advised what indemnity Japan will demand from Russia.

In his recent audience with Mr. Meyer, the czar indicated a willingness to take under advisement the subject of peace, and expressed a warm appreciation of the friendly words of Mr. Meyer, speaking as the personal envoy of the president.

The reception of Mr. Meyer was characterized by the greatest cordiality and friendliness, and the ambassador's cablegram to the president, giving a general account of the audience, is of a distinctly hopeful tone. Mr. Meyer did not bring to the St. Petersburg government an offer of mediation, but a "friendly offer of good will" as it was desired by Count Cassini, which apparently was gratifying to the czar. Further than this it is impossible to record the character of the cablegram.

No Personal Message from Czar.

The czar has sent no personal message to President Roosevelt, and no message has gone to the mikado from President Roosevelt.

In anticipation of definite peacemaking moves, Baron Kentaro Kaneko, one of the great men of Japan, who has been for months in the United States engaged upon a delicate political and fiscal mission, has come to Washington to remain until success or failure has resulted from President Roosevelt's peace effort.

Baron Kaneko today called on President Roosevelt at the White House, as did Mr. Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese minister. Neither of them told the president Japan's peace terms, although it is now known in Tokyo that President Roosevelt desires to know them, and that he is in a position to tell Russia. There is high authority for the statement that Japan will not announce her peace terms until satisfactory assurances are forthcoming that Russia's desire to know springs from a wish to end the war.

"Have you been asked directly for Japan's peace terms by any neutral power at Russia's suggestion?" Baron Kaneko was asked.

"No."

"Do you think Russia is ready to ask for them?"

Questions Russia's Sincerity.

"Russia has been ready many times to know what they were," said he with a smile, "but not as a real basis of peace negotiations."

In view of Baron Kaneko's declaration that Japan had not been directly asked for peace terms, it is thought the farthest the president cared to go in this direction was an intimation that if he knew Japan's peace terms, and they were moderate, there might be a way to end the war.

Long cipher dispatches have gone today from the Japanese legation to Tokyo. Meantime the president has already cast his influence to counseling the Japanese to moderation in their terms. In this counsel he has the support of Germany and France, but there are strong indications that England is prepared to stand stoutly by Japan, in the belief that the great demands which she will make are justified by her victory.

The state department has received from Ambassador Reid at London a dispatch which, it is understood, describes England's attitude as one of non-interference with whatever Japan may be inclined to do.

Later in the afternoon Sir Mortimer Durand, the British ambassador, saw the president, and tonight Baron Speck von Sternberg, the German ambassador, was at the White House for nearly an hour. None of the callers would discuss their visits and it can be stated that with the exception of the call of Mr. Takahira none of these visits was of great importance. Earlier in the day M. Jusserand, the French ambassador, also had a conference with the president.

Berlin and Paris are both giving loyal assistance to the efforts initiated in Washington, and the result of Berlin's activity is already being felt.

Further instructions have been sent Ambassador Meyer at St. Petersburg, but their character is not known.

Count Cassini, the Russian ambassador, called at the French embassy today, where he had a long talk on the situation with Ambassador Jusserand. The Russian ambassador has not yet made an appointment with the president, and it is impossible to obtain any information regarding the cablegrams that have reached the embassy from St. Petersburg in the last 24 hours.

So far the Chinese minister has not called at the White House. He is the shadow in the background.

TOGO'S VICTORY COSTS RUSSIA 15,000 MEN

GUNSHU PASS, MANCHURIA, June 8.—According to reports received by Gen. Linevitch from naval officers who have arrived at Vladivostok, the losses of Admiral Rojestvensky's fleet were from 8,000 to 10,000 officers and men killed or drowned, and about 5,000 prisoners.

SPEEDS FASTER THAN THE WIND

Chicago to Pittsburgh, 468 Miles, Made in 412 Minutes.

A GREAT TRIAL RUN

Train Keeps Below the Mile-a-Minute Over the Whole Distance.

OTHER SCHEDULES BEING CUT

Passenger service history was made yesterday by the Pennsylvania Company in a great run from Chicago to Pittsburgh over the Ft. Wayne road by a train which was practically a duplicate of the 18-hour Pennsylvania special between New York and Chicago, which makes its initial run on Sunday next. General Superintendent A. M. Schoyer of the lines west was in charge of the train, and had as his guest L. F. Loree, formerly an official of the lines and more recently president of the Baltimore & Ohio and Chicago & Rock Island roads, and several other officials. The train left Chicago at 8 a. m. and pulled into Union station at 2:44 p. m., central time.

This trial run train made the distance from Chicago to Pittsburgh, 468 miles, in 449 minutes during which time the train was standing still 28 minutes, making the actual running time 412 minutes. This makes an average speed maintained 68.82 miles an hour, including stops, and 68.1 miles an hour in actual running time.

Beating a Mile a Minute.

The speed ranged from 72 to 90 miles an hour. During the first hour the speed was 62 miles an hour; second hour, 73 miles; third hour, 71 miles, which included a stop at Ft. Wayne where the engine was changed; fourth hour, 66 miles including a stop; fifth hour, 62 miles; sixth hour, 51 miles including a stop of 13 minutes, really 51 miles in 47 minutes, and seventh hour, 62 miles, including a stop.

Mile after mile was made in 42 to 44 seconds. The run from Clark Junction to Ft. Wayne, 126 miles, was made at the rate of 75.3 mile an hour, which included several stops. The powerful class E 2 engines were used.

The Pennsylvania special, which will be put into service next Sunday, leaves New York at 3:55 p. m. passes through Pittsburgh at 12:30 a. m., and reaches Chicago at 9:55 a. m., eastern time. The eastbound special leaves Chicago at 3:45 p. m., passes through Pittsburgh at 12:30 a. m., and reaches New York at 9:45 a. m., eastern time.

It will be made up of a library car, drawingroom sleeping car, compartment car and a dining car part of the way. The train will carry a barber shop, stenographer, mail boxes and will have a lady's maid in attendance.

Shortening Time of Other Trains.

The Pennsylvania railroad, not content with putting on the fastest long-distance train in the world, is shortening the running time of its other high-class through trains. Beginning next Sunday the time between New York and Cincinnati and New York and St. Louis will be clipped one hour on several of the best trains. The New York special will leave Cincinnati at 2:15 p. m., an hour later than at present, passing through Pittsburgh about 8:35 p. m., and reaching New York at 8:15 a. m., the time it is now due. Train 28, the New York limited, will leave Cincinnati at 9 p. m., half an hour late, passing through Pittsburgh about 6 a. m., and reaching New York at 5:30 p. m., instead of 6, as now.

The New York limited will leave St. Louis at 1 p. m., passing through Pittsburgh about 6 a. m., and reaching New York at 5:30 p. m. The St. Louis limited will leave New York at 10:55 a. m., passing Pittsburgh about 9:30 p. m., and arriving at St. Louis at 1:30 a. m.

Competition for business between the Pennsylvania Company and the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie for Pittsburgh-Cleveland business may result in the running time being cut down from three hours and 15 minutes to an even three hours. The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie is arranging to put on a faster train between the two points, and when the new line from Niles to Ravena is completed the Pennsylvania will be able to shorten the running time of its trains.

DIVORCE IS GRANTED TO MRS. AGNES M. HENDRICK

She Names Laura Biggar as Co-Respondent—Testimony of Two Witnesses is Deemed Sufficient.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—After hearing but two witnesses, Judge Wilmot M. Smith, in the supreme court, Brooklyn, today granted a decree of absolute divorce of Mrs. Agnes M. Hendrick, wife of Charles C. Hendrick, whose association with Laura Biggar, an actress, brought him into prominence some time ago. The actress was named as co-respondent, Hendrick did not appear in court.

Former Justice of the Peace Samuel Stanton, of New Jersey, and Miss May Ross, a nurse, testified to certain occurrences in New Jersey and Vermont, in which Hendrick and Laura Biggar figured, and Judge Smith, without hearing further testimony granted a decree.

Mrs. Hendrick dates her marital troubles from the time that Laura Biggar entered her husband's sanitarium in New Jersey. Miss Biggar represented herself as the wife of H. M. Bennett, a Pittsburgh millionaire, and Dr. Hendrick was mixed up in court proceedings that followed the actress' attempt to secure some of the Bennett estate. It was recently reported that Miss Biggar received $800,000 from the Bennett estate in settlement of her claim.

FIND NO HEAD FOR EQUITABLE

Committee Fails to Secure Chairman for Board of Directors.

NEW ENTANGLEMENT

Rumor That Irregular Transactions Are Made With Subsidiary Companies.

FRICK REPORT IS RECALLED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, June 8.

After discussing for three hours today the question of selecting a candidate for chairman of the board of directors of the Equitable Life Assurance society, the committee appointed for that purpose adjourned until tomorrow without deciding upon the man. It was said late tonight there was a possibility that the nominating committee would be forced to go before the board without a name to suggest. The difficulty in settling upon an available man was said to have been discovered very soon after the committee began its session. Each member brought forward a name.

Another feature of the Equitable tangle which engaged the attention of the financial district was the report that certain irregularities discovered by the superintendent of insurance in transactions between the society and the Equitable Trust Company and the Mercantile Trust Company, had warranted Mr. Hendricks in calling upon the state superintendent of banks, Frederick D. Kilburn, to examine the trust companies' affairs.

While the report was denied by the presidents of both institutions and by Mr. Kilburn himself, bankers, remembering that part of the Frick committee report entitled, "advance to agents and entangling alliances with auxiliary companies," expressed themselves as interested in the story. Recent investigations have shown that trust companies affiliated with the Equitable have loaned $6,000,000 on what are termed "renewal commissions."

Loans Not Admitted as Assets.

In the Frick report disclosures are made showing that the Equitable "sold" to banks and trust companies the assignments of scores of agents' future commision claims. It has been shown that on December 31 last, $7,327,894 in these advances to agents was extended by the Equitable. Of this amount $5,813,184 was made by trust companies. The Frick committee denounced these advances as unsafe financial hazards. "The security," the Frick report says, "while sound in many instances, is not of the character that should be negotiable."

It was also brought to light today that in November, 1894, the insurance commissioners of New York, Massachusetts and other states refused to admit the loans made by the insurance companies to their agents as assets. To circumvent the prohibition of the insurance departments it has developed that the loans or advances to agents on future premium commissions were carried by trust companies affiliated with the Equitable.

Whether the security offered to the trust companies on which the $6,000,000 has been loaned is ample enough is one of the vital points of interest to the state banking department in view of the present disturbed state of affairs in the Equitable. The financiers comprising the Frick committee have characterized the security offered as non-negotiable.

Circumvented Its Rule.

From careful consideration of the data presented in the Frick report Wall street bankers have come to the conclusion that the Equitable in negotiating the loans made to the agents, must have indorsed the paper "bought" by the trust companies. After the insurance department of this and other states prevented the life insurance companies from including in their list of assets the loans made to agents in advance of the premium commissions, or renewal accounts, it appears now that the Equitable circumvented the new rule by turning to subsidiary trust companies, chief of which in this state are the Mercantile and Equitable Trust companies.

With these companies the rights of the agents were assigned in the Equitable Life Assurance Society, and the latter in turn place these assignments as collateral with the trust companies for the loans. Then the moneys were paid over to the agents. To get around the law prohobiting trust companies from making loans on paper of this kind the term "sold" is used.

Recognizing this element of hazard, the Frick report calls attention to the large amount of funds which the Equitable maintained on deposit at the several trust companies. Bankers in discussing the question, held the opinion that the deposits probably were made a guaranty for the loans. The point was also made that the Frick committee evidently held the same opinion, for the members wrote a letter to T. D. Jordan, controller of the insurance society, asking him to furnish a statement showing the location of what were termed "unavailable funds."

Cash Balance Tied Up.

Further reasons why the state banking department is seriously considering an investigation, which many Wall street bankers deem necessary in view of the Frick findings, are contained in the disclosures made in a letter of Mr. Alexander, president of the Equitable, written on July 23, 1903, in which he refers to the fact that the company would obtain $900,000, with which stocks might be bought, notwithstanding the fact that the statement of the company one month later showed an apparent cash balance available of $26,260,788.

The facts are more clearly brought out in the following paragraph in the Frick report: "The society had on deposit August 12, 1903, $36,360,788 82. At the times when Mr. Alexander spoke of the great possibilities of making money, if it only had available funds, the society had at least $25,000,000, which, under ordinary conditions, would have been perfectly available; but which, through alliances with other concerns, were so tied up that the opportunity was lost."

Only three of the five members of the committee of selection met in the Equitable board room. They were Senator Chauncey M. Depew, August Belmont and David H. Moffat. James B. Forgan, the fourth member of the committee was ill, and Louis Fitzgerald was out of the city.

There were many reports regarding the candidates whose names had been discussed. Those most frequently heard were Judge George Gray of Delaware, Gov. Myron T. Herrick of Ohio and Gen. Horace Porter. Late in the afternoon the name of Alton B. Parker was mentioned in the same connection, and in several quarters Paul Morton was talked of as having been considered.

Robert T. Lincoln Resigns.

When the officers of the Equitable came to their offices this morning they were informed by the supervisor of agencies that the Cincinnati agency had notified the home office that Melville E. Ingalls, who resigned from the board of directors immdiately after the rejection of the Frick committee report, had surrendered his $50,000 policy. This is the policy upon which Mr. Ingalls, according to his testimony before the superintendent of insurance, paid an annual premium $1,000 less than the regular premium rate. The rebate, he said, had been allowed by Henry B. Hyde at the time the policy was written, a dozen years ago.

Among the developments of the day were the announced resignation of Robert T. Lincoln from the board of directors and a statement by Alvin W. Krech, president of the Equitable Trust Company, and a director of the Equitable Life, that there was absolutely no truth in the published report that the inquiry of the state insurance department would show a new impropriety involving $10,000,000.

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—The resignation of Henry C. Frick of Pittsburgh as a director of the Franklin National bank and also as a director of the Commercial Trust Company, both of this city, was accepted today at meetings of the respective boards of directors of the two institutions. No successors were elected.

It was reported that Mr. Frick resigned because he did not care to sit on the same board of directors in which James H. Hyde of the Equitable Life Assurance Society is a member, but the reasons given for the resignation are press of business and inability to attend board meetings in this city.

CALEB POWERS BEFORE UNITED STATES COURT

Claims That Federal Constitution Has Been Violated in His Several Trials.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

MAYSVILLE, KY., June 8.—With two life sentences reversed and after having been under the shadow of the death penalty for more than a year before that verdict was reversed, Caleb Powers, accused of conspiracy before the fact to murder William Goebel, today had a hearing before Judge A. M. J. Cochran of the United States circuit court for the eastern district of Kentucky. Powers bases his petition to the federal court on the ground that he has been denied the equal protection of the law guarded by the 14th amendment to the Constitution of the United States and that by the workings of the state courts that portion of the 14th amendment prohibiting any state from depriving any person of life, liberty or property without due process of law has been violated.

In support of this contention the main points were argued by United States District Attorney Hill of Louisville and ex-Gov. Yates of Illinois. The argument was, first, that three courts refused to recognize a pardon issued in legal form by the then legally constituted governor, and, second, that in all of Powers' trials the juries were packed with Democrats.

The commonwealth made a motion to transfer the case to the federal court. The object of this motion was to force the question of jurisdiction. Arthur Goebel was present. The court house was crowded with spectators. Judge Cochran withheld his decision for several days. Lawyers from all the surrounding counties were in attendance.

ERIE MAN IS CHARGED WITH KIDNAPING HIS SON

Uriah S. Glick, Founder of the Morse Iron Works, Is Arrested in New York.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—Uriah S. Glick, 42 years old, a prominent business man of Chicago and Erie, Pa., was arrested in the corridor of the Fifth Avenue hotel this afternoon while with a boy of 3 years. Glick was greatly surprised, and, turning to Detective Sergeants Reilly and Kear, asked what the charge was.

"You are charged with kidnaping your son from Erie, Pa.," said Kear, "and the arrest is made at a request telegraphed from Erie. Your wife will be here tomorrow."

Mr. Glick looked staggered, but, catching a smile on the face of the child, patted him on the head and said, "All right, Johnny, we will go with the gentlemen."

At police headquarters he sent for lawyers, who soon appeared. Glick seemed to be more concerned as to what care would be taken of his son than he was about his own arrest, and, after kissing the boy good night, he told him to go with the officer who was to take the little fellow to the Children's society for the night. Glick spent the night in the lockup.

Mr. Glick is the founder of the Morse iron works at Erie. The police here understand from the tenor of the Erie advices that the supreme court of Pennsylvania has given the custody of the child to the mother.

ERIE, PA., June 8.—(Special.)—Mrs. U. S. Glick and Mr. Glick's brother left for New York tonight.

RUSSIA HAS AGREED TO MEET JAPAN IN PEACE CONFERENCE

She Has Conveyed Her Willingness Through the President—Merely Consents to Open Discussion Whether It Possible to Come to Terms.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—In a Washington dispatch to the Record-Herald, Walter Wellman says:

Russia has agreed to meet Japan. Peace prospects are brighter than ever before. For the first time the czar has given sign of willingness to end the war. An armistice or tacit agreement to suspend hostilities, is considered probable within a few days, to be followed by actual negotiations for peace.

This is the momentous and most promising outcome of the peace efforts that have been made by President Roosevelt ever since the battle of the Sea of Japan. Russia, through the American ambassador at St. Petersburg, has notified President Roosevelt, who in turn has notified the Japanese government, that she is willing to meet Japan, not pledged to make peace, but to open a discussion to ascertain whether it is possible to agree upon terms of settlement.

Japan absolutely declines to state in advance what those terms will be. There are many details still to be arranged, but so confident is the president that nothing will happen at the last moment to prevent the arrangement from being carried into effect, that it is hoped in Washington that by Monday official announcement may be made to the world that contact has been established between the belligerants.

STRIKE AWAITS ACTION OF TEAM OWNERS' BODY

Progress of Struggle Depends on Whether Strikers' Allies Shall Decide to Desert Them.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—The teamsters' strike has reached the point where its further increase is dependent on the action taken by the members of the Chicago Team Owners' association. This organization has from the first declined to make deliveries to the boycotted houses, and has constantly urged the teamsters to arbitrate the question of making deliveries.

The teamsters have positively refused to deliver or receive goods, and now, the last chance of securing any concessions from the teamsters having faded away, the members of the Team Owners' association must either decide to deliver goods or allow the teamsters to have their own way.

At a meeting of the organization tomorrow night, the Team Owners' association may decide to make deliveries and discharge all of its men who refuse to obey orders. Such action would add to the ranks of the strikers about 8,000 men.

ALLEGHENY POLICE HARDY.

"Japanese bamboo is not of a durable quality when imported for use in this country, but the Japanese granite is as durable and as indestructible as the Allegheny police force has proven itself during the past few months."

So said Attorney John Marron when addressing the Western Pennsylvania Botanical society in the Fifth avenue high school last night.

An exhibition of hardy plants in bloom at this season of the year, together with a description of the best methods of culture and the care and installation of a garden conducted on the Japanese plan, was given by Mr. Marron, who has converted his home at Quaker Valley into a veritable Japanese residence. The new home of the Young Men's Republican Tariff club at 408 Grant street was opened yesterday. The quarters are handsome and the most commodious this old organization has ever possessed.

Instead of a picnic this year a jubilee will be held at the Prospect school on the last day of school.

The school board of the Twenty-eighth ward re-elected the old staff of teachers. Miss Margaret M. Mullen was elected principal for a term of three years. Heretofore the term of principal has been one year. The board reorganized with Louis G. Knoepp president; Ebenezer Oliver, treasurer, and A. Hauenstein, secretary. AFTER STEWART AND FAY.

Superintendent McQuaid Hot on Trail of Men Who Forfeited Bonds in This City.

Detective Superintendent McQuaide is making an effort to capture Charles F. Stewart and J. J. Fay, who were arrested in this city two weeks ago by Detectives Rice and Shore for collecting money under false pretense. Yesterday 50 pictures of the men were sent to different large cities. The men were released on bail, failed to appear at the hearing and their bondsmen forfeited.

After the men were liberated on bail they were indicted in this county for conspiracy. When they failed to appear at the hearing their attorney asked to have the case continued. Magistrate Moke refused unless their bonds were renewed. This the bondsmen refused to do and the magistrate held the men for court, making their bondsmen responsible. A number of bonds have been made void in previous cases by magistrates continuing the cases without renewing the bonds.

Stewart and Fay are fugitives from justice in New York as well as in this county. They collected large sums of money from bankers and business men of that city, it is alleged. In this city they were soliciting for funds for the "Citizens League of Improvement," and in a few hours raised over $800. Their wives came here from Wilkesbarre and retained Attorney W. J. Brennen.

KEPT WEDDING SECRET.

John E. Palmer Announces His Marriage Which Was Celebrated a Year Ago.

NEW YORK, June 8.—(Special.)—Just one year ago today Kate Burrough Ellsworth of Astoria and John E. Palmer of Pittsburgh, son of the late John C. Palmer, vice president of the Oil Well Supply Company of that city, came to New York unknown to their friends, had lunch together and called on the Rev. Dr. Houghton at the Little Church Around the Corner, on the same errand that brings many young couples to that door.

"Mum's the word," they promises each other, and journeyed back to Long Island City together. Miss Ellsworth went home to her mother at No. 436 Clinton avenue. Young Mr. Palmer went back to his law school. Today, the anniversary of the secret marriage, the pair decided it was time to give their friends a shock. The friends who rushed to the home of the bride found her husband there, and they had an impromptu reception.

Mr. Palmer's father died recently, leaving the care of a large estate in his hands. Much of the property is in Indian territory. Thither the young couple will go next week.

BOLD ADDRESS MADE TO CZAR

All-Russian Zemsivo Congress Demands Assembly to Consider Peace or War.

PHRASES OF RESPECT OMITTED

[ASSOCIATED PRESS CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, June 9.—The voice of the delegates of the Zemsivo and the municipalities demanding in no uncertain language the immediate convocation of a national assembly to pass upon the question of peace or war, to heal internal strife, and to unite the people in the rejuvenation of Russia, will be heard in the address adopted by the All-Russian Zemstvo congress at Moscow, which a deputation headed by Count Hayden and M. Shipoff is bringing to present to the emperor. The document bids fair to become history. The customary phrases of respect at the opening and closing are omitted, and the document is otherwise uncermonious, employing the direct personal pronoun. Following are extracts:

"Sire, Russia has been drawn into a disastrous war by criminal abuses and the negligence of your counsellors.

"Our army is powerless and our fleet has been annihilated, but more menacing than this exterior peril is the prospect of a civil war waged by your people against all the vices of a dangerous and ignorant bureaucracy."

The address declares that the emperor's reform intentions have been distorted and miscarried while the police have been given unrestricted power.

"Martial law has been declared," the address says, "and the path to enable the truth to reach you is barred to your subjects.

"Sire, before it is too late, for the welfare of Russia, command a convocation of representatives of the nation, elected by equal franchise, and let these elected representatives decide with you the vital question of war or peace, thus transforming the war into a national one. Let there be established in agreement with you a representative national organization. Sire, do not delay. Great is your responsibility before God and before Russia in this terrible hour of national trial."

The address will not be published in the newspapers, but its contents will be spread with the mysterious rapidity characteristic of Russia.

There is intense interest to learn whether the emperor will receive the bearers of so bold a message, couched in terms such as have never before been used between the emperor and his subjects. The address is buttressed with a stream of petitions from individual zemstvos and municipalities.

The doumas of nearly all the principal cities have addressed the throne, praying that the representatives of the people be summoned at once.

PIG IRON TRADERS SEE OPPORTUNITY

Low Prices Reached by Certificates Bring About an Increased Activity.

FURNACE COMPANIES LEAD

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, June 8.

The low prices reached by pig iron certificates during the past week, brought about increased activity in trading, and interest in the movement seems to be manifested by a larger number of those identified with furnace companies, apparently with a view of disposing of grades that are not now in demand, and which are with them a surplus.

Recent sales of "regular" certificates at $14.50 emphasize the opportunities offered by exchange dealings to consumers of iron, as a means of providing for their future requirements, at prices considerably below current quotations.

There seems to be a mistaken idea prevailing as to iron covered by certificates being stored in New York. This is not the case. There are certificates outstanding, each covering 100 tons of iron, as follows:

No. of Certs.	Brand	Grade	Stored at	Dect. $ ton
6	Girard	Bessemer	Girard, O.	$9.85
4	Mary	Bessemer	Allequippa, Pa.	....
4	Peter Bell	Bessemer	Allequippa, Pa.	....
1	Ella P.	Bessemer	Allequippa, Pa.	....
2	Shenango	Basic	Allequippa, Pa.	....
28	Dickson	Bessemer	Columbus, O.	1.00
20	Dayton	Gray forge	Dayton, Tenn.	4.50
2	Shenango	Bessemer	Allequippa, Pa.	....

From this it will be seen that a certificate purchased $14.50 plus 5 cents a ton commission, would enable the purchaser to surrender same to the trust company and draw out a warrant for 100 tons of gray forge iron stored at Dayton, Tenn., together with $4.50 a ton, amount of differential deposited with said warrant when exchanged for certificate, making the iron cost purchaser $10.25 a ton f. o. b. cars, Dayton, Tenn., from which point it could be shipped to any part of the United States. Likewise, the holder of a certificate could withdraw from the trust company a warrant for Girard standard Bessemer iron, stored at Girard, O., together with 85 cents differential, making the cost of said iron to the purchaser of a certificate, $13.70 at furnace, while Bessemer iron is quoted in the valleys at $15.

DACHROTH IS ARRESTED.

Former Allegheny Policeman Incurs Another's Displeasure Because He Would Not Move On.

Amos Dachroth, the former Allegheny policeman who has been active in the graft cases on the side of the prosecution, was arrested shortly after midnight at Craig and Robinson streets, Allegheny. The arrest was made by a new policeman on the beat as according to a friend, Howard Thompson, who was with Dachroth, was caused by the latter refusing to obey the policeman's order to "move on."

Dachroth was standing on the corner when the policeman told him to get off. He moved out of the way and was again ordered to move on. Thompson says Dachroth refused to do so, whereupon the policeman said: "Then I'll have to arrest you. I'd arrest a judge if he would not move on." He made the arrest, and at 1 a. m. Dachroth was still locked up in Allegheny Central station on a charge of violation of an ordinance.

REFORMED CHURCH PASSES DRASTIC DIVORCE MEASURE

ASBURY PARK, N. J., June 8.—(Special.)—The general synod of the Reformed church today passed a resolution that its ministers refuse to marry divorced persons except the innocent party, and not then until a year after the degree of divorce is granted. It also urged the passage of uniform divorce laws. The synod favored federal union with other bodies holding the Presbyterian system and continued a committee on church union with additional members.

VOTERS' CIVIC LEAGUE GAINS GREAT VICTORY

Judge Buffington's Decision Gives It on Opportunity to Bring Out Facts in Connection With Grant Boulevard Franchises.

The Voters' Civic league now has a chance to try to prove its allegations of fraud in connection with the granting of the Grant boulevard franchise without first filing a bill of particulars. By a decision given by Judge Buffington yesterday in the United States circuit court the league is authorized to prove, if it can, in open court, its charges that the Grant boulevard franchises were put through Pittsburgh city councils by fraud.

The decision made by Judge Buffington is directly opposite to that made by Judge Macfarlane in common pleas court No. 1. In the common pleas court the league filed quo warranto proceedings through the district attorney; the Grant and Liberty Street Railway Company or its affiliated companies first demurred to the petition, later in its answer asked that a bill of particulars be filed and this the judge ordered the league to do. Shortly after the league entered the quo warranto proceedings it went into the United States circuit court and there, through John L. Shuff, a non-resident, but an owner of property on the Grant boulevard, brought suit to enjoin the Grant and Liberty Street Railway, alleging that the Grant boulevard franchise had been obtained through fraud and that councilmn had been bribed to vote for it. These were the same charges, among others, contained in the petition filed in the common pleas court, to which the traction interests had demurred, and which Judge Macfarlane had commanded should be fully set forth in a bill of particulars.

In the United States circuit court the traction interests filed a demurrer. This demurrer Judge Buffington overruled. Then the traction interests filed their answer and asked for a bill of particulars, which request Judge Buffington yesterday refused.

As soon as Judge Buffington made his decision the league, through its attorneys, announced that it was ready to prove the allegations contained in its bills, and Judge Buffington set next Wednesday for taking testimony. Judge Buffington notified the attorneys for both sides that the testimony would be taken under his supervision. The attorneys for the Voters' Civic league are A. Leo Weil and S. W. Childs, and those for the traction interests Reed, Smith, Shaw & Beal, James H. Beal appearing in court.

This decision of Judge Buffington is considered a great victory for the league, for it has contended that by filing a bill of particulars its whole case would have been exposed. The usual objection to filing a bill of particulars in such cases is that witnesses may be tampered with or that men accused of wrong-doing may flee the jurisdiction of the court, whereas without the filing of a bill of particulars the plaintiff's case is developed only as testimony is brought out from day to day.

Although the proceedings of the league are directed primarily against the Grant & Liberty Street Railway Company, because of its supposed ownership of the Grant boulevard franchises, the Philadelphia Company is the interested party as it owns the traction interests of the city, and the league, in its proceedings, has attacked the Philadelphia Company's charter.

CAMPBELL BOOM FORGING AHEAD

Old Soldiers and Many Republicans Favor Him for the Commissionership Appointment.

FUSION TICKET MAKING

Interest in the appointment of a successor of County Commissioner J. Carson Mercer was increased yesterday by the announcement that many of the leading Republicans are favorable to the selection of I. K. Campbell. Since The Gazette mentioned his name on Monday a great deal of quiet work has been done in his behalf. He is now a candidate for the position.

Mr. Campbell is an official of the Colonial Steel Company and is one of the best-known business men in Pittsburgh. While he is not in public life, he has been an active Republican. In 1903 he was one of the leading figures in the Soldiers' Civic league. The announcement of his name in connection with the commissionership has called forth the approval of the old soldiers. It has also caused many men prominent in the Republican organization to send indorsements of his candidacy to the nine common pleas court judges who will make the appointment. Should he be named by the judges at the meeting scheduled for Saturday, the selection will be well received in Republican circles.

Other Candidates Busy.

W. J. Zahniser, who has been indorsed by the Orphans and Municipal league, and who has many supporters among the Republicans, is making an active campaign for the appointment. His selection would also be well received by the Republicans.

The other candidates who are said to be making a good showing in the race for the appointment are former Commissioner W. W. Murray and Harry T. Rowley, chief clerk to the board of commissioners. The Citizens leaders are quietly doing everything in their power to assist Mr. Rowley. He has been a supporter of that party. Commissioner James A. Clark, the Democratic member of the board, has been renominated for a fourth term. The Citizens have accorded him the privilege of naming his colleague. Some time ago he offered the place on the ticket to Mr. Rowley. Clark would like to see his proposed running mate appointed to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Mercer. The Citizens figure that the appointment of Mr. Rowley would add strength to their ticket this fall. They are circulating the story that the judges have announced the appointee must have had experience in the office, and for that reason Mr. Rowley is to be named.

Fusion Ticket Makers.

The makeup of the fusion ticket is being delayed until the judges fill the county commissionship. After that question is decided there will be an attempt to divide the places and select the men. Fake primaries will be held Saturday night for the election of delegates to the county convention on June 27. This meeting is to ratify the ticket the fusion committee named.

So far the nominations settled on are R. J. Cunningham for controller, J. D. O'Neil for recorder and James A. Clark for commissioner. There has been no decision as to the placing of F. X. Barr on the ticket. He is now clerk of courts and wants to be nominated for register. Some of the fusion leaders are opposed to giving him any place and others are of the opinion he should be satisfied with a renomination for clerk of courts. Reid T. Kennedy of Homestead is spoken of for treasurer. This position is held by David F. Collingwood, who will probably want another place, but should he, Barr, O'Neil and Rowley be named, the eighth legislative district would secure four of the eight important nominations to be named. So far there has been no discussion of a candidate for prothonotary.

Attorney R. H. Jackson is preparing a brief on the question of the constitutionality of the law authorizing the judges to appoint a board of tax revision for the county and will file it with the judges in a few days. Attorney Jackson was unable to get a hearing on the question, but is at liberty to file a brief in accordance with the letter of Judge McClung to the county commissioners. The judges are expected to meet on Saturday to dispose of the question.

John H. Fuchs Pays Borough for Street Paving That Contractor Did Not Complete.

CITY MUST NOW PAY MONEY

Controller Larkin and Andrew W. Burke, the superintendent of the bureau of construction, are trying to solve a riddle remaining over from the Elliott borough annexation. So far as the controller knows the city of Pittsburgh will have to pay out good money for a piece of street paving in Elliott, the paving having been already paid for, although the work has never been completed.

John H. Fuchs, a resident of the old borough, complained yesterday to Superintendent Burke that Catherine street was not paved in front of his house. He showed Burke receipts showing that he had paid the street paving assessment and he wanted to know how he could get justice, alleging that as he had paid for paving the street in front of his house the street ought to be paved.

Burke laid the matter before Larkin and the controller turned it over to Assistant Controller Morrow, who is familiar with the troubles that usually follow the annexation of boroughs. Mr. Morrow investigated the case and now thinks that Pittsburgh will pave the unpaved portion of Catherine street and will be unable to collect the money from the former borough of Elliott, which is now the Thirty-ninth ward.

Fuchs is chairman of the Citizens party in the Thirty-ninth ward and he and his friends charge that it was the faction that formerly controlled Elliott borough which caused the trouble. The borough authorities let the contract for paving Catherine street up to the bridge, which meets it. The contractor did the work in good shape, but when he got within 40 feet of the bridge, just in front of Fuchs' house, the borough authorities stopped him.

There the matter ended, apparently, the contractor being ready and willing to finish the work, but still being prevented. Finally the paving assessments were all collected and Fuchs, to save costs and hoping that eventually the paving in front of his house would be completed, paid his assessment. The paving was never done and Fuchs now says that either he ought to get his money back or the street ought to be paved.

"The property owner's grievance is just," said Mr. Morrow. "He has paid for street paving that he didn't get. The street ought to be paved and I have told Mr. Burke that, as far as I can see, the city must pave in front of Mr. Fuchs' property. It is true, too, that justice demands that Elliott should pay for that piece of paving, but Elliott does not exist any longer. I know of no way by which the taxpayers of the ward can be made to pay for the work. I don't know that the city councils can impose a tax on the borough to defray the cost."

HERMES ENTERS DENIAL.

Insists That He Did Not Run Down Three Italians at Harmarville With His Automobile.

Select Councilman Peter Hermes of the Sixth ward was temporarily detained by the East End police Wednesday night on suspicion of having run down three Italians with his automobile at Harmarville. Councilman Hermes denied being at Harmarville or of having injured any one, and was released.

When the report of the accident was made, it was said the license number of the machine was 800. Policeman Blue saw a machine numbered 800 pass the Beechwood boulevard. He stopped the vehicle and ordered the driver, Councilman Hermes, to go to the Frankstown avenue station, where the councilman soon secured his release.

The county detectives are investigating the affair, but have received no information as to the identity of the owner of the automobile.

MIKADO WANTS SHADDICK TO MANAGE HIS MILLS

Former Homestead Superintendent May Go to Japan and Take Local Workers With Him.

John P. Shaddick, formerly superintendent of several of the plate mills at the Homestead Steel works, but now head of the steel mills at Lorain, O., is said to have received a flattering offer from the Japanese government to accept the position of superintendent of a large steel mill to be erected in Japan. Mr. Shaddick is said to be seriously considering the acceptance of the offer, and should he go to Japan, a score of steel and iron workers from Braddock, Homestead and Lorain will go with him.

Mr. Shaddick is a thoroughly experienced steel man. For a time he was assistant master mechanic at the Edgar Thomson works, later going to Homestead, where he was superintendent of the most important plate mills at the works. After leaving Homestead he went to the mills of the Lackawanna Steel Company at Buffalo and later to Lorain. Very little has been learned concerning the new mill to be erected by the Japanese, but it is stated that native ores are to be worked and that the mikado's government expects, with the aid of Americans, to produce a satisfactory grade of iron and steel.

Friday, June 9, 1905.
Charge your memory with the fact that next Wednesday is Flag Day—that it is the one hundred and twenty-eighth anniversary of the Stars and Stripes. People who own flags fling them to the breeze on that day from the loftiest pinnacle of their home or place of business. It is a pretty and a patriotic practice. There are some people that overlook the day, perhaps because they have no flag.
In our basement of East Store any sort of flag, that is, referring to dimensions and materials, can be bought, and bought for the lowest price. We have all sizes in silk flags, and all sizes in flags of United States wool bunting.

$14 and $12 China Mattings, $9.75 a Roll.
We have just received a large shipment—something like 250 rolls—of china mattings. They should have reached us long ere this, and if the import had been here on time we should have charged you either $14.00 or $12.00 a roll, as there are two different grades.
Rather than carry this matting over to next Fall we'll let it go for the remarkably small price of $9.75 a roll. Each roll contains full 40 yards.
These new China mattings are the smooth, close woven, heavy 116-warp goods and the designs are in neat small effects in such colors as green, blue, red, tan.
By way of comment, we might say that these mattings were never known to sell for such a price as $9.75. You know China Matting differs from that made in Japan in the way it is put together and also in the thickness of the material. China Matting is noted for its long wearing qualities.

Women's Linen Handkerchiefs from ⅓ to ½ Less.
Some 6,000 Manufacturers' Seconds.
A first-class manufacturer is most particular about the goods he turns out. If there is an enlarged thread, a dropped stitch no greater than a pin hole, or such other trivial blemish, the manufacturer calls them seconds and sells them as such. To the ordinary observer, however, they are perfect, and no imperfection would be noted unless pointed out. However, it is our policy to tell the truth, the exact truth, about everything we sell, and we follow the policy in this instance.
Every handkerchief is of a superior quality of pure linen—one-eighth to one-quarter inch hemstitching.
18c to 22c Handkerchiefs will sell for 12½c each.
25c to 35c Handkerchiefs will sell for 18c each.

Handsome Garb for Women for Handsome Concessions in Price.
Our news of today from the second floor, West, bearing on reduced prices, refers to Women's Silk Dresses, Women's Silk Waists, Women's Covert Jackets, and an assortment made up of Golf Blouses, Sweaters and Norfolk Jackets. The reductions are such that if you have any use for any of these garments it will be folly on your part to let the occasion pass unnoticed.
Two Hundred Silk Dresses—
Following close upon our recent stirring announcements of reductions on our whole gathering of tailor suits comes this news today, of equal interest to every woman whose Summer plans make possible the wearing of cool, pretty silk dresses such as we offer today. This collection contains suits for street wear, for indoor occasions, for afternoon wear and for traveling. The reductions are most substantial, and to add to the importance of the event the season is just opening.
There are plain and trimmed effects, light and dark colors, as well as checks.
$12.75 for Silk Dresses that were $18.00 to $22.00.
$15.00 for Silk Dresses that were $20.00 to $30.00.
$20.00 for Silk Dresses that were $30.00 and $35.00.
One Hundred Silk Waists, $2.50 Each—
Former prices $5.00 to $10.00. This is news too good to keep.
Never mind the how or why, they're here in good form. Definite description is impossible, as the collection is a miscellaneous one. Mostly dark colors and plenty of black. Of course the choicest numbers will disappear first.
Jackets for Cool Evenings—
At $5.00, $10.00 and $15.00. They are worth $10.00 to $30.00, so you will see the reduction averages an even half.
They are covert jackets made for our most particular trade and of the styles that have been most favored this season. They are nearing their end of use to us, but valuable to you, as every woman finds use for a wrap during the cool days which are always interspersed with the torrid ones.
Some are plain, some trimmed with straps, the majority are lined with taffeta silk. Sizes from 34 to 44.
Golf Blouses, Sweaters, Norfolk Jackets—
We are cleaning up the broken lines of these essentially Summer jackets. For people going away the offer presents some splendid opportunities for saving.
Golf Blouses in plain colors, low neck, fancy stitch, made of fancy zephyrs, red, white and gray. $5.00 blouses for $3.75.
Sweaters of fine zephyr, plain colors, red, brown, yale blue. High collar, button on shoulder. Two styles, $2.00 and $3.00.
Norfolk Jackets, in white. Single-breasted. Low collar. $5.00 Jackets for $3.75.

Grinding Lenses to Suit the Eyes.
Perhaps we are mistaken, but we think there is only one man in the whole world who understands how to grind a lens for a great telescope. He lives in Allegheny.
Grinding lenses to suit the eyes is not quite such a delicate task, still there are a great many who follow the business who would better follow grinding plowshares, for they know about as much of one as they do of the other.
In having the eyes fitted with glasses, while it is all right to consider the framework, yet the main point is in the proper lens to fit your eye. What may fit one of your eyes will not fit the other; therefore it takes two different lenses for your glasses.
Every pair of glasses sold in our Optical Department is sold with the guarantee that they are absolutely correct for your eyes. Therefore you are on the safe side.
10-karat gold-filled rim, or rimless Spectacles, $2.50 up.
Solid gold rim, or rimless Spectacles, $4.50 up.

Ruffled Muslins for the Bedroom.
By that we mean muslin curtains for the window and bed sets to match. Our fourth floor Curtain Department has just received a number of these muslin curtains and bed sets and they are sold as follows—
White Figured Ruffled Muslin Curtains, with hemstitched ruffle of plain organdy, $1.50 a pair.
Bed Sets to match, for brass and iron beds, $5.00 a set.
Ruffled Muslin Curtains, with colored borders, hemstitched ruffle of plain organdy, $1.50 a pair.
Bed Sets to match at $3.50 a set.

Postal Albums, 35c to $2.75.
The postal album is the child of necessity. We don't think there's a civilized country in the world which does not have its quota of souvenir postcards. The album is to hold a collection the possessor happens to receive.
We just received them from the Custom House, and they are in all styles and colors—bound in paper, cloth, linen or imitation leather; some of them very artistic, indeed. Different sizes to hold various-sized collections. No pasting or fussing to do. Simply tuck the post card in the slits in the folios made to hold them.
On sale in our Kodak Department.

Boys' Waists, Star and King Brands, $1.00 Each.
There are many lines of boys' wash waists on the market, but there are none that can successfully compete with these two brands for general excellence.
Every one who has occasion to be interested in boys' waists knows that the regular figures for the King and Star Waists are $1.00, $2.25 and $2.50 each.
Today you can choose from this collection at $1.00 each. Sizes 6 to 12 years.

Developments in the new Butler pool opened by the McBride well have progressed far enough to prove several things. It does not extend on the northeast and southwest axis of the third sand. It is a fourth sand development. The size of the pocket has not been determined, but the staying quality of the original well and the size of Waldron No. 2 tend to confirm all of the conclusions of The Gazette, drawn from the initial discovery of McBride.

Calculations of peace probabilities had better be deferred until after Japan's terms are made known. They may be so heavy as to flatten out the movement. There have been intimations from the Japanese government that it has no desire for a settlement that will mean only a truce until Russia gets into shape to renew the struggle with better preparation and the demands which Japan may make may be more extensive than have been anticipated.

Arguments in the case of Caleb Powers were made in the United States district court in Marysville, Kentucky, yesterday, both sides assenting to a night session to complete them. The decision will be awaited with intense interest in and out of Kentucky. It has become quite obvious that Mr. Powers has not had a fair trial, though he has been four times before a jury in circuit courts of Kentucky, and in the interest of justice and humanity it is hoped the United States court will assume jurisdiction to try the case on the question of fact.

Equitable officials emphatically deny the report that a new scandal has been unearthed involving millions of money. It certainly does not seem that the Frick report left anything to be still disclosed, for it abounds with scandalous revelations. The wonder is that the remaining directors should imagine that creating a new executive office will correct a situation which is evidently based upon Mr. Hyde's idea that his stock control gives him the right to treat the assets of the company as his personal estate. Any reform, to be effective must eliminate this feature of the situation.

Hon. Beriah Wilkins, editor of the Washington Post, who died suddenly Wednesday night was a leader in his profession. He made his advent in Washington as a representative in congress from the Zanesville district in Ohio. He saw a chance to make the Post, then an inconspicuous sheet, an influential newspaper. This he has done. He gathered about him a galaxy of bright newspapermen, including several of his former associates in Ohio, and made the Post one of the most widely quoted papers in the country. Mr. Wilkins was respected by all; he was loved by those who helped him keep the Post up to his ideals.

County Chairman Thomas J. Ford has further exemplified the spirit actuating the Republican organization by appointing a committee to confer with the Orphans, the Municipal league, the Soldiers' civic committee and the organized labor committee concerning a candidate to be recommended to the court for appointment as county commissioner. The Republican organization thus opens the way to the freest expression of public opinion. The Citizens party, on the other hand, is maintaining a close corporation and the Democratic party has delegated all of its powers to William J. Brennen, Esq., and four associates to be chosen by himself. He has not been in haste to invite anyone to share with him this great honor of being a whole political party.

Attorney-General Moody has decided that the eight-hour law applies to the employment of laborers and mechanics in the construction of the Panama canal whether they are directly in the service of the government or by contractors upon government work. It does not, however, apply to employes of the government who are not within the ordinary meaning of the words "laborers and mechanics," neither does it apply to those in the service of the Panama railroad, which is a corporation distinct from the government, but under government ownership. It is not likely that this decision will really increase the cost of canal construction, as eight-hours of real manual labor in that climate will take out of a man all he is capable of doing and while long working days may be the rule in tropical countries they are so broken up by resting spells that they will not usually yield eight hours of genuine labor. Under the pressure which American methods will apply to the work the eight-hour law will be a peculiarly meritorious restriction in work upon the canal, and as extensive application should be given to it as is possible.

Justice John Stewart.

In the appointment of Judge John Stewart of Franklin county to the vacancy on the supreme court bench caused by the death of Justice John Dean, Gov. Pennypacker has given fresh evidence of his care for the public welfare. Judge Stewart's name was brought forward soon after the funeral of Justice Dean, and it is said that Justice Dean himself had expressed a wish to have Judge Stewart elevated to the supreme bench. The governor has apparently given ear to what he deemed a popular demand, the more readily because he has long known Judge Stewart for a man of high ideals and a jurist of great ability.

This appointment should prove one of the most satisfactory that Gov. Pennypacker has made. True, the suggestion that Judge Stewart might be appointed was attacked by certain petty political malcontents and misrepresented as a pandering to almost forgotten political prejudices. That attack was from the same quarters as the indecent attacks upon the governor begun before the mortal remains of Justice Dean had been consigned to the grave. Elsewhere the appointment should prove popular.

Judge Stewart is not only a man of conspicuous legal ability, but possesses the other qualifications for sustaining the highest traditions of the Pennsylvania supreme court. He is judicial in temperament, scrupulously honest and of high personal character. He has attained to ripe judgment and experience in human affairs and is at that age where he can bring to the service of the state the best fruits of a studious life.

The Royal Arcanum.

The steps which the officials of the Royal Arcanum have felt obliged to take in order to ensure the financial stability of the order have excited much complaint, as members find themselves required to pay more for their insurance than they had counted upon in joining the order. The process really betters their insurance by putting it upon a basis in accordance with actual experience. The tendency upon the part of all fraternal orders and assessment societies is to fix the rates on a scale that does not make sufficient allowance for the increase of mortality risks through age, and hence these societies are apt to become weaker rather than stronger as the years go on.

The Royal Arcanum years ago found it expedient to revise its rates and to take steps to establish a reserve fund, but death claims have mounted up until last year they were considerably in excess of the income, so that without the reserve fund the order would have been unable to meet its obligations. As it is the surplus is dwindling and the unpaid losses accumulating. The supreme council must be credited with facing the situation and applying the proper remedy—an increase of rates. Even if the membership should shrink under the process the order will be in a much sounder condition.

The Royal Arcanum is one of the oldest and largest of the fraternal orders, its affairs have been prudently and honestly managed, and its present troubles are due to the inherent defects of the system. As these defects are corrected the basis of fraternal orders will more nearly approximate to that of the regular insurance companies, but in both the situation would be improved if the business were systematized under the supervision of the national government.

Disadvantages of Civilization.

There must be nearly a dozen textbooks of "The Simple Life" by now, and while harassed humanity is striving to master their complexities the news of the day furnish far more potent arguments than could be formulated by pulpit rhetoric. By a curious juxtaposition a dispatch reporting the loss of a $20,000 pearl necklace is followed by one telling of a child's death from poison contained in a penny string of prize beads. Thus the disadvantage and dangers of the passion for ornament are brought home, and the moral enforced by the fact that price has nothing to do with it. It is another verification of the old adage. "Uneasy rests the head that wears a crown." It should be a source of consolation for the man who sports bone cuff buttons and uses a shoestring instead of a watch chain.

It may be doubted, however, whether such incidents ever have any appreciable effect upon the jewelry business or tend to make prize packages less popular. Civilization comes high, but we must have it. There is no sense in doing without a thing just because it may be stolen or many kill us—that is the unconscious reasoning of humanity; and if people did not reason thus one theater fire would blow up the whole drama and one can of ptomaine ice cream would ruin many of King Victor Emmanuel's subjects. Life, which Stevenson aptly compared to existence upon the brink of a slumbering volcano may be a fatal disease, but the afflicted ones do not like to miss any of the symptoms.

Guarding Public Rights.

In an elaborate article upon the growing menace of private ownership of water works "Insurance Engineering" calls attention to the valuable public service rendered by Gov. Pennypacker in moving the legislature to take action upon the matter. His special message of March 13 last is reproduced with the remark that "his ideas are worthy of consideration as bearing upon the conditions that exist, not only in his state, but all over the country." It appears from the appended statistics that nowhere has private ownership of water supply such a rank growth as in Pennsylvania so that Gov. Pennypacker's intervention was very opportune.

The legislature responded to his recommendation by providing that no water company hereafter incorporated shall have the right of eminent domain. This does not go as far as he suggested, which was that the right of eminent domain be taken away from all private water companies, but extensive provision for the care of the public interest in this matter is made by another act, which was passed for the preservation of the purity of the waters of the state. In effect it puts all water supply under the supervision of the state commissioner of health and will have the effect of elevating the standard of service. Still another act strengthens the power of municipal authorities to guard their water supply by giving right of entry by any of their employes upon private lands for the purpose of patrolling the drainage area.

These acts together with that creating the state department of health makes a fine legislative record for the care of the public health, and the selection which Gov. Pennypacker has made for head of that department is assurance that its large powers will be scientifically organized and vigorously employed. Legislation of this kind, which distinctly bears the stamp of Gov. Pennypacker's influence, far transcends in importance the party issues and faction disputes of the moment and yet receive much less attention.

Dangerous Practices.

A timely warning has been issued by the state board of health in the hope of diminishing the casualties due to celebration of the Fourth of July. The warning is accompanied by a statistical exposition of fatalities and mutilations, incident to the patriotic recklessness of last year, that is grewsome enough to be impressive. As this is one of the last official acts of the state board, which will be superseded by the new department of health, it should be given careful attention.

One salient point made in the board's statement is that Fourth of July casualties have become numerous in recent years only—so they can hardly be assigned to increase in patriotic spirit. The lessons of 1776 were probably as fully appreciated by the fathers as by the present and coming generations. There has simply been an accession of noisy and foolish demonstration. A return toward the simple life in observance of the nation's natal day will contribute to the safety and comfort of millions and will tend toward the preservation of enthusiastic patriots for better uses.

The Honesty of Women.

From the Washington Post.

As women enter more and more into business life, there will be cases of dishonesty, and of carelessness resulting as seriously as outright stealing. But they will be notable exceptions to the general rule. In the homely, every-day virtue of honesty—of keeping their hands off other people's property—women are as far ahead of men as they are superior to them in virtues of the heart.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS

By ERASMUS WILSON.

What does it cost, this garniture of death?
It costs the life which God alone can give;
It costs dull silence where was music's breath,
It costs dead joy that foolish pride may live.
Ah, life, and joy, and song, depend upon it,
Are costly trimmings for a woman's bonnet!"

—MAY RILEY SMITH.

Did you ever kill a bird?

Were you glad or sorry after you had done the deed?

There is a savage streak in most boys that prompts them to kill and destroy birds and animals for no other purpose than to gratify a desire for blood.

This, you know, is the peculiar characteristic that distinguishes a savage from a human, while the most reliable indication of civilization of the individual is the absence of savage instincts and traits.

The boy who kills birds, or who robs nests, may not mean to be wickedly cruel, but he is. For there is neither sense nor use in doing either; besides birds are absolutely essential to the prosperity of the people.

You may not know that even owls and hawks are necessary in this country.

The state of Pennsylvania awhile ago offered a bounty for the heads of owls and hawks because farmers complained of the loss of their chickens. Such quantities of these birds were killed that the field mice and other vermin which they had kept in check increased so rapidly that the state lost, through their depredations, upward of four million dollars in a year and a half. The law was quickly repealed, but it will be years before the balance can be restored.

Not only humanitarians and lovers of nature, but naturalists and scientists, also have testified times without number to the useful services of owls in the cause of agriculture, owing to the great inroads they make among mice and moles. So much did our predecessors value them that in constructing their barns they invariably left an entrance for their particular use.

* * *

A sweet girl would not kill a pretty bird that she might wear its head and feathers on her hat, not even if she thought it would make her hat look too sweet for anything.

But she is guilty none the less, for she cheerfully buys the prepared skin, and is willing to pay such a good price for it that men and boys leave the fields and shops and go forth as bird-killers. If the sweet girl, and her sisters who want to look sweet, would not buy these bird pelts the killing would soon stop.

Doesn't that make it clear that the wearers are equally as guilty as the killers?

Have you any idea as to how many innocent, useful birds are slaughtered to meet the demands of our women—Christian women—for bird ornaments on their hats?

In the report of the American Ornithologist's Union, published some years ago, it was estimated that about five million birds were annually required to fill the demand for the ornamentation of the hats of American women. The slaughter is not confined to song-birds; everything that wears feathers is a target for the bird butcher.

"The slaughter extends in greater or less degree throughout the country," says the Union. "The destruction of 40,000 terns in a single season on Cape Cod for exportation, a million rail and reed birds (bobolinks) killed in a single month near Philadelphia, are facts that may well furnish food for reflection."

The aigrettes, which have been used so much for millinery purposes, are the nuptial plumes of the white heron, donned only for the nesting season. Arrayed in these the bird is ruthlessly shot while endeavoring to protect its nest of young, and is more easily caught on that account, and after the plume is torn out the dead body is thrown down in sight of the young ones, who are left to their miserable fate.

An American ornithologist, writing to the Auk, says: "Plume hunters have destroyed about all the Florida rookeries. I saw one whole wagon load of scapular plumes of Ardea wardi at one point. It is a burning shame, and it would make your heart ache to hear the wails of the starving young birds whose parents have been killed."

* * *

Well, what should the dear creatures do to square themselves with the Creator of birds and of women?

Repent and reform.

To prove their repentance true and genuine they should take the plumes and all bird ornaments from their hats and burn them.

And then to show that they have really and truly reformed they should not only refuse to buy any more but endeavor to induce others to do likewise.

It is clearly the duty of every Christian, either woman or man, to do all in their power to stop any and every sort of inhuman practice on the part of their fellows.

If you are guilty of any such practice, stop it at once, and then you will be able to exert a healthy, helpful influence over others.

You know that it is cruel and wicked to kill birds, and be assured that those who prompt the killing are every whit as guilty as the killers.

Mrs. Olive Thorne Miller, in an article on bird decoration, pertinently asks: "How can a thoughtful woman, feeling some responsibility in the training of her children, reconcile her conscience to the constant object-lesson in cruelty which the wearing of murdered birds holds up before her children? How dare she thus endorse and tacitly approve cruelty and barbarity which she cannot but know are a necessary part of this infamous trade?"

In answer to the old argument that a bird exposed for sale has already been killed, so no harm is done in wearing it, Mrs. Miller points out the fact that "every woman who buys a bird this year ensures the death of another next year."

* * *

Over and above the mere sin of killing innocent, necessary birds and animals, or encouraging others to kill and to slay after a cruel and savage fashion, is another sin still more far reaching, and that is the fostering of the savage spirit in children, particularly in boys.

The engine of slaughter most popular among boys is the air gun. It is a dangerous thing, for it will knock an eye out as willingly as knock a bird off its nest.

And then it is a seductive sort of thing, for its use tends to develop the savage qualities of a boy's nature. These in turn lead him away from the humane, which is away from the things which distinguish Christians from inhuman people.

One who has given the matter much thought has reached the following conclusion, to which your careful attention is invited.

"To suggest to a child that a pleasant holiday is time spent in the woods with a death-dealing toy—sport that means for the innocent birds suffering and death—is dangerous education for the young. It is education that makes the boy hard, cruel, unfeeling—teaches him to look at the agony of a creature with indifference that cannot but end in brutality.

"It is no uncommon sight to see on Saturdays or other holidays, boys with air-guns on shoulder, starting off on a tramp. The thoughtful man or woman who sees them can but wonder at the blindness of the parents and the indifference of a community that will allow the unrestricted sale of so dangerous a toy.

"We want more kindness in the world, not less; more good men and women who will help the helpless and protect the weak. We want to train our children into the belief that arbitration is better than war, honesty better than trickery, kindness better than cruelty.

"Is it a good way to reach this end to give to them for pastime the means of causing suffering and death?"

TALKED OF IN GOTHAM

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—The proposed peaceful invasion of New York bay by a British fleet next autumn was the occasion of a call today by Paul Morton, secretary of the navy, upon Mayor McClellan. The mayor received his visitor in his private office at the city hall, and for a few minutes they talked over the expected visit of the fleet. The United States government will take official cognisance of the visit, and Secretary Morton wished to call the attention of the mayor to it early enough for him to arrange a plan for the proper reception of the British officers by the city.

Secretary Morton told the mayor that the fleet of warships, which will be sent to America for a friendly visit, will be commanded by Prince Louis of Battenberg, a grandson of the late Queen Victoria, and an admiral in the royal navy. He suggested that the citizens of New York should provide a suitable reception for the prince and his suite, and that arrangements should be made for their entertainment while they are here. Mayor McClellan agreed with Mr. Morton and promised to give the matter his attention. Without due consideration the mayor was unable to say what would be done, but he assured his visitor that New York would do her full duty.

Naval officers on both sides of the water are said to be very much interested in the proposed visit of the British fleet. For one thing they hope it will result in bringing about international maneuvers between navies of friendly powers, and that a series of naval visits will follow. Next year, it is expected, United States ships will return the call by visiting English ports.

Army Children on Parade.

One hundred and thirty thousand children took part today in the anniversary parade of the Brooklyn Sunday schools, singing anniversary hymns as they passed the reviewing stands. Two hundred and seventy-seven Sunday schools were represented in the parade, which disbanded in Prospect park. After the parade the park presented a gay appearance as the children went through many exercises and indulged in games and refreshments. June 8 is a legal holiday in the borough of Brooklyn and all the schools were closed. All the church bells in Brooklyn rang as a signal for the starting of the ceremonies.

Explosion Excites Waldorf Guests.

Gas in a supply pipe beneath the sidewalk in a vault of the brownstone front house at No. 45 West Thirty-fourth street became ignited early today and exploded with a loud report. The explosion blew out the basement windows and the resulting blaze that started up in a dozen places set fire to the woodwork and threatened the entire structure. The Waldorf-Astoria hotel, just across the street, at once became the scene of activity. The quick arrival of the firemen, however, reassured the patrons. The damage was slight, the flames having been confined to the vault.

Children Condole With Hattie.

Children from all parts of the city visited the Central park menagerie today to condole with Hattie, the pet elephant, who has rheumatism so badly that she has been forced to sleep standing up for nearly a week, and is so consumed with pain that she has lost her appetite for peanuts and other dainties. Rarely does an elephant suffer from rheumatism, but, as Keeper "Billy" Snyder says, "Hattie was always a rare beast anyway." Hattie is the elephant who for the last six years has delighted children, and grown-ups, too, with her clever tricks. Hot weather is expected to cure her in a few days.

Hospital for Accidents Only.

St. Gregory's free hospital, at No. 61 Gold street, the first hospital in the city purely for accident cases, was opened for the treatment of patients today. Although no cots are yet in readiness, owing to the fact that but one floor of the five which will eventually be occupied by the hospital has been fitted up, five will be placed in position within a week, when the second floor will be ready. Two ambulances are attached to the hospital, one of which will be hitched all the time to respond without delay to emergency calls. It is the intention of the hospital's founders to help out the Hudson Street hospital in accident cases as much as possible.

Planning Big Naval Celebration.

Headed by Mr. McCarroll, president of the New York board of trade and transportation, a committee of that body called at the city hall today to ask the mayor to appoint a committee of 100 to prepare for the celebration in 1907 of the centennial of the successful application of steam to navigation, with a world's naval exposition in New York harbor. The mayor said he believed better results would be achieved if a smaller committee of the board of trade formulated plans and left until later the appointment of a committee to carry those plans into effect.

Clinic Wholly for Negroes.

Following an investigation made by the health board and the Charity Organization society into contagion of tuberculosis, a new clinic was opened tonight in the health department building at Fifty-fifth street and Sixth avenue for the sole treatment of negroes. Negro physicians and a negro nurse will be in attendance. It has been found that mortality among negroes from consumption and pulmonary troubles is almost as great as among the white races. A sub-committee of the Charity Organization society, composed of negro physicians and clergymen, will conduct the work under the supervision of the society.

Hair Whitened in the Tombs.

Judge Cowing in general sessions yesterday was called on to solve a mystery when Thomas Gerrard, who had been incarcerated in the Tombs as a dark-haired individual, appeared with snow-white hair and mustache, for his trial.

"How's this?" asked the judge. "The court understands that when you were sent to the Tombs you were dark-haired and had a dark mustache."

"That's true, your honor. You see, it was this way—I—I couldn't get any dye in the Tombs, so I had to come this way."—New York Times.

THE ARABIAN REVOLT

From time to time the cable has brought bits of news about the progress of revolt against Turkish authority in Southern Arabia. The insurgents have captured a number of towns and the Turkish troops sent against them have been defeated. The region of the war is entirely out of the track of travel and news of events there are slow in reaching the outside world. In a recent article on the subject, the London Times says: "That the region comprises three divisions of territory known as the Hejaz, the Asir, and the Yemen are nominally provinces of the Turkish empire, though Turkish rule has never effectively penetrated into the less accessible mountain districts. The Hejaz is by far the most important of these divisions, for it contains the holy cities of Mecca and Medina, the possession of which is the visible proof to the Mohammedan world of the sultan's title to be regarded as Caliph.

Sectarian Antagonism.

The Asir is the wildest and the most inhospitable of these regions, and is peopled largely by tribes who adhere to the doctrine of the Shia sect, and consequently repudiate altogether the claim of a Sunnite sultan to spiritual supremacy. The Shia doctrine is also widely held in the Yemen, which, owing to the fertility of its mountain valleys and the comparative excellence of its climate, is economically a possession of considerable importance. This fertility has attracted settlers from the earliest times and the Yemen can show traces of a very remarkable civilization, believed by some to be coeval with that of ancient Egypt. The Yemen, from its geographical position, was one of the first countries to feel the impact of the new forces which were born into the world with Mahomed, and many of the legends, the semi-ecclesiastical, semi-civil rulers, who for centuries exercised an uncertain sway over the Arab tribes which peopled it, were of the blood of the prophet.

The Rule of Turkey.

The Turkish power was first effectually established in the country in the reign of Suleiman the magnificent, and by the middle of the sixteenth century all the coast of Arabia acknowledged the Turkish rule, and Sanna became the seat of the Pasha of Yemen. The Turkish occupation came to an end in 1630, and one Kasim, a descendant of the prophet, founded a line of Imams which continued in power for more than two centuries, until the lawless state of the country, which rendered caravan trade impossible, induced the Turks to reoccupy the country and restore the direct rule of the porte in 1872. The Yemen, however, has proved to be no bed of roses to the Turks in the last 30 years. The prevalence of the Shia doctrine, which makes the rule of a Sunnite sovereign repugnant to the Arab tribesmen, the spirit of independence which characterises mountaineers all the world over, and the incompetence and rapacity of the Turkish officials have all militated against the establishment of a lasting peace. A dangerous revolt broke out in 1892, and the existence of a representative of the ancient Imams, in the shape of Ahmed-ed-Din, who, however, does not appear to have been very anxious to play the part of national hero, gave it the character of a religious war. The porte, by a lavish expenditure of men and money, managed to scotch the rebellion, but the embers of disaffection have continued to smoulder, and at no time has the Yemen been completely free from trouble.

A Dangerous Outbreak.

The immediate cause of the present outbreak is not clear, but it has attained serious proportions. The occasion of the Yemen, if carried out, would be a very serious blow to the Turkish power, for the tidings of a successful revolt could not fail to spread to the Asir and the Hejaz, and might raise throughout the Arabian peninsula the racial fanaticism of all the tribes whose traditional hatred of the Turk has never been curbed except by fear. Even in modern times the Wahabi movement has shown how sudden and overwhelming such outbreaks are apt to be amongst the fierce tribesmen of Arabia. Less than a hundred years ago, Mecca and Medina themselves fell into the hands of the Arab puritans, and were wrested from them only by the military intervention of Egypt under Mehemet Ali. Egyptian troops are no longer at the beck and call of the sultan. The effect upon the position of the sultan as a factor in international politics would be far reaching if he were ultimately to lose his hold over the cradle of Islam.

Great Britain and Germany.

From the London Spectator.

What are the aspirations of the emperor and the governing classes in Germany? They are, we believe, to establish a world-wide empire, and to place Germany in a position which will give her a dominating voice in all international affairs. The ruling caste dreams of an "Imperium" in the old sense, a sense very different from that in which we use the word "empire." That, of course, is an aspiration which Germany has a right to put before herself. We hold next, that her rulers in their heart believe that it can only be satisfied at the expense of Britain. They, in fact, feel toward Britain much as the ruling Englishmen felt in the days of Elizabeth, and later in those of Cromwell, in regard to Spain. To the ambitious German we are the Spain of the Philanthian adventurers, an effete and degenerate empire which is bound to make room for the younger and stronger power that has arisen in north-eastern Europe. Our empire is doomed to pass away, and if Germany is worthy of her opportunity, she will take our place.

A Blast for Reciprocity.

From the Iowa Register and Leader (Rep.)

"Blaine proposed 15 years ago exactly the policy with the whole American continent that we have later adopted with Porto Rico, free exchange on reciprocal terms. At that time he could have had his way in South America. If congress could have seen what he saw the United States would today be the great manufactory of the western hemisphere, using the raw product of the continent and sending it out for final consumption, the sails of an American merchant marine, unhobbled by any public tax, whitening every American sea. It is too late to realize on Blaine's plan, but it is not too late to realize on the philosophy which underlay it. It is not too late to insist that trade on even terms is merely another term for wealth, and that every new market annexed is a find, more valuable in the long run than a gold mine. The American people have nothing to fear from trade."

DR. SAMUEL G. DIXON

Powers of Pennsylvania's New Health Officer.

Dr. Samuel G. Dixon, who has been appointed commissioner of health for Pennsylvania, will exercise extraordinary powers, for the office is to control a department requiring great responsibility, which often requires almost arbitrary authority. When public health is involved, such as the control of contagious disease and the suppression of nuisances, immediate action is often necessary, so the office should be free from the delay incident to red tape. The exercise of such power makes it almost necessary that the health commissioner have unusual judgment and tact, and it is believed that these qualifications are met in Dr. Dixon, who was chosen by Gov. Pennypacker on account of his fitness for the place. After the commissioner has been surrounded by an advisory board, of six men (a majority of whom shall be physicians and one an engineer) he must appoint ten assistants in the many districts, which he must create. These assistants are to receive salaries of $2,500 each and are to co-operate with him in enforcing orders of the board and tabulating the vital statistics of the state. While the salary of the commissioner is $10,000 a year, his advisory board is to serve without compensation, except that their expenses are to be paid. The new organization supersedes the board of health and the chief with his advisers serve for four years, although the term of the present commissioner will expire March 1, 1907.

Some idea of the power of the commissioner can be gained by the fact that the order of his agents can issue warrants for the arrest of persons disobeying the orders, they may enter any premises, they can suppress nuisances or order quarantines, and they can compel people to make the improvements they order on the penalty of doing the work and assessing the costs. If the health rules of any community conflict with the regulations or affect the public health outside the local territory they can be modified or revoked by the commissioner. Anyone who resists an officer of the board or fails to carry out his orders can on conviction be fined not more than $100 or imprisoned not longer than one month or be given both penalties. The collection of vital statistics in the state is to be entirely revised under the direction of the commissioner.

Dr. Dixon's Personality.

While Dr. Dixon lives at Ardmore he is president of the Academy of Natural Sciences in Philadelphia. While engaged in his work at the academy Dr. Dixon did not neglect the general question of sanitation and has been one of the most active workers in the Pennsylvania Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis. At the same time he has taken a special interest in educational affairs, becoming a member of the board of education in 1896. When he retired from the board in January, 1903, his associates drafted a very strong set of resolutions in commemoration of his work.

Dr. Dixon, who comes of Quaker stock, was born on March 28, 1851. He was admitted to the bar in 1877, but he subsequently took up the study of prevention of diseases and was graduated from the medical department of the University of Pennsylvania in 1886. He made a specialty of preventive medicine, sanitation and hygiene. He studied bacteriology in King's college, London, also in the State College of Medicine, London, and in the famous Pettenkofer's Laboratory of Hygiene, in Munich, where he got in touch with the latest discoveries in municipal sanitation, particularly in the prevention of typhoid and other endemic diseases. Dr. Dixon, in 1886, was appointed professor of hygiene of the university and was dean of the auxiliary department of medicine, which he organized under the provostship of Dr. William Pepper. In 1890 Dr. Dixon resigned from the university in order to carry on private research in bacteriology and took up his work at the academy, but went abroad to examine into the claims of Dr. Robert Koch, whose discovery of tuberculin as a supposed preventive of consumption was interesting the scientific world. In 1891 he became a curator of the Academy of Natural Sciences, then corresponding curator in 1892, and finally its president in 1896, which position he has held ever since.

What He Proposes to Do.

Dr. Dixon says that he accepted the position in the spirit in which it was proffered, "free and unhampered, as a charge from the people of the state in a great cause." "Familiar as I am with sanitary methods here and abroad," he continued, "I well understand the enormous responsibilities the law puts into my hands; but I accept these responsibilities in the name and in the interests of the whole people of the state, who are my patients, as it were, and in whose behalf as a whole I expect to work to safeguard them in their daily life in city and countryside, farm and factory. Prevention and protection are the two sides of the shield of advanced sanitation, and I need not say more at this time perhaps than to state that I shall begin at once to create the organization necessary to carry the law into effect; but of necessity must move slowly, reconciling the complexity of interests involved, endeavoring however, to carry practically the gospel of sound science into every part of the commonwealth in such a reasonable manner that I shall secure co-operation and not antagonism from corporations and individuals."

May Bar the Children.

Chicago aldermen proposed to pass an ordinance forbidding landlords to discriminate against tenants with children. The judiciary committee decided to ask the corporation counsel about the constitutionality of the measure and he has just submitted a reply in which he reviews the matter at some length and decides that the city has no power to put such a restriction on a property owner, who may put any condition he chooses in the lease. Childless tenements are likely to continue the exception so long as human society remains as it is, but a city might as well try to prohibit hotels for women and bachelor flats by law as apartments which will not receive children.

JUDGE PARKER VISITS MILLS

To Help Decide Legal Action. Former Presidential Candidate Sees Steel Made.

CALLS UPON COL. J. M. GUFFEY

Ex-Judge Alton Brooks Parker, formerly of Esopus, but now a practicing attorney in New York, who was prominently mentioned in national politics early last fall, was a visitor in Pittsburgh yesterday.

The Democratic presidential candidate of last year was here in the capacity of referee in a lawsuit brought by the Carbon Steel company against the J. A. Roebling Sons' company of New York. He spent the greater portion of the day "learning how they make steel," as he expressed it, and refused to be interviewed on politics.

When asked whether or not he favored a re-organization of the Democratic party he replied that he was a mere citizen-Democrat and would express himself on that point when the proper time and occasion presented itself and when called upon to do so.

"I am here in a professional capacity, not politically," he added, "and am devoting myself solely to the call that brought me here."

Judge Parker refused to comment on the present administration, and kept well within the announcement not to discuss political or national affairs.

Paid Tribute to McKinley.

Accompanied by Attorney Charles A. Hess of the Carbon Steel company and Attorney Robert Noble and William Roebling of the firm of J. A. Roebling Sons' company, Judge Parker arrived in the city at 8 o'clock yesterday morning, and after breakfast at the Duquesne club went out to the plant of the Carbon Steel company at Thirty-second and Smallman streets, Lawrenceville.

The first thing that greeted the eyes of the defeated Democratic presidential candidate was a handsomely framed, huge sheet of American tin plate that hangs from the wall of the Carbon Steel company office, which is embossed with the bust of former President McKinley and bears the text, "Protection," in bold letters, and the signature of McKinley. Judge Parker smiled at this greeting and paid tribute to the martyr president in a few words.

In the recent Harrisburg wreck Victor L. Crabbe, Paul Bright, John W. Anderson and F. W. Anderson were killed. They had been in New York to give evidence before Judge Parker in the suit, but owing to a postponement of the hearing were to return on the following Thursday. By the death of these witnesses and the loss of valuable papers, which were destroyed while in the possession of those killed, the case has become complicated. The Carbon Steel company furnished J. A. Roebling Sons' company with 5,000 tons of steel billets to be woven into wire by the eastern concern for use in the construction of the East River bridge in New York. The Roebling company alleges there was too much scrap in the billets and is said to have made a heavy reduction in forwarding payment.

Watched Billets Being Made.

In order to get a fuller technical understanding of steel making Judge Parker visited the works of the Carbon Steel company yesterday morning, and several billets were made and cropped for his benefit. He appeared much interested in the work and chatted with the workmen, occasionally asking information regarding the processes employed. He was escorted through the works by President James Kilduff, Vice President N. A. Hemphill and General Supt. J. M. Johnson of the steel company. No testimony was taken. Several days ago Judge Parker visited the Brooklyn (N. Y.) plant of the Roebling company and witnessed the process of spinning wire from billets.

At noon yesterday Judge Parker was entertained at luncheon at the Duquesne club by the officers of the steel company, where he was introduced to a number of local business and professional men. During the afternoon the former presidential candidate was taken to the Carnegie steel works at Homestead, where he enjoyed another lesson in the art of steel-making.

After dinner at the Duquesne club last evening Judge Parker visited Col. J. M. Guffey at his home. There were no other visitors. Col. Guffey entertained his distinguished guest until 10 o'clock last night, when Judge Parker returned to New York over the Pennsylvania railroad. Col. Guffey stated last night that the visit of Judge Parker had no political bearing or significance and was a social call in its entirety.

TEN ARE GRADUATED.

Avery Trades School Presents Class With Diplomas in Presence of Large Audience

Ten graduates of this year's class of the Avery College Trades schools received their diplomas at the commencement exercises last night in the college auditorium, Avery and Nelson streets, Allegheny. From 2 p. m. to 10 p. m. an exhibition of the work of the students was shown in the class rooms. A feature of the exhibition was the dresses, stitching, millinery, etc., taught at the college. Many people visited the school during the day.

At the commencement exercises about 1,200 people were present and many others were turned away, as the hall was packed to overflowing. The Rev. W. A. Ray, pastor of the Avery mission, asked the invocation, and a chorus sang the "Pilgrims Chorus" from "Tannhauser." The Rev. Dr. E. L. Eaton, pastor of the North Avenue Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny, delivered the address to the graduates, and Dr. G. G. Turfley, president of the faculty, presented the diplomas. The chorus sang "Palm Branches" and the Rev Dr. D. S. Bentley pronounced the benediction.

Members of the graduating class were: Alease Banks, Stonie Beale, Pearl J. Davis and Carrie Douglass, all of Virginia; M. Adelia Harris of Allegheny; Mrs. M. Howell Payne, Kentucky; Mrs. Beneta Reeder, Anna Smith and Mrs. Emma Pittiford, all of Washington, and Ida Taylor of Charlotte, N. C.

HERRERA BEATEN BY NEARY, RUSHES TO THE REFEREE

GRAND RAPIDS, MICH., June 8.—(Special.)—When Referee Lynch declared the Neary-Herrera bout a draw at the end of the Tenth round the Mexican rushed at him and was only restrained from another fight by his seconds, although the verdict was a just one. Herrera had the most steam behind him, but never at any time did he seem to have Neary going. While the Milwaukee German lead in the second, third and seventh rounds, Herrera was groggy and in distress in the third. The fourth and sixth rounds were in favor of the Mexican. Neary lead throughout the fight and never let up on his speed at any time. Neary drew first blood and sent Herrera to his knees once with a left to jaw. Both depended on left jabs, Herrera landing two rights, but neither was effective. If any decision were to be given Neary, as the aggressor, deserved it.

PITTSBURGH COMPANY EXTENDING ITS TRADE

CINCINNATI, June 8.—(Special.)—Oliver E. Connor leased to the Bruening Cork Company of Pittsburgh a local repository on the first floor of the Power building, Eighth and Sycamore streets. The company will make this the distributing point for its Southern Ohio trade. The lease is for five years. The company has a large trade in this section, which will be extended in all directions from Cincinnati.

NEW UNIVERSITY READY IN 1907

Deal for East End Property Likely to Be Closed Before End of the Summer.

ADJACENT TO TECH SCHOOL

"The Western University of Pennsylvania in all probability will be in its new home in the East End district in Pittsburgh in 1907," said Chancellor S. B. McCormick yesterday. "It was hoped that a definite location could be announced at our commencement exercises next Tuesday, but we regret that this cannot be done. The university, however, likely will be adjacent to the Carnegie technical schools.

"The university committee is looking into the merits of a dozen pieces of property which provide an available site for the institution," continued Chancellor McCormick. "This entails an immense amount of work and we have been obliged to make haste slowly. The property, it is safe to say, will be purchased before the end of the summer.

"A fund of $65,000 has been set aside for building purposes, and as soon as the site can be secured one of the wings of the main building can immediately be erected, making it possible to have this pioneer structure ready for dedication within two years."

Yesterday the following graduates in the law department of the university were announced to receive the degree of bachelor of laws:

Harry Irwin Arnold, Frank Charles Link, Alexander J. Barron, Churchill Brown Mehard, Alexander Black, Arthur Beveridge McBride, Walter Leroy Copeland, John Ralston McCreight, Erwin Cummings, John Sample McKelvey, Albert A. Garfield Gill, Walter Lee Riggs, Robert Nicholl Grier, Louis M. Shoemaker, Charles Hoopes, George Silverman, Lawrence Barrett Hurst, Abraham Marcus Simon, Joseph Nelson Huston, Andrew Earl Sloan, Robley Dungleson Huston, William Augustus Steinmeyer, Ernest Chester Irwin, Donald Thompson, William Kerr Johnson, Orvin C. Yingling.

WHEN THE BIG BELL STRUCK.

It Almost Caused Heart Disease in Many Down Town Barrooms—Fear License Revocation.

For some reason, to the ordinary citizen unknown, the big bell in city hall tower struck once at 11:15 o'clock last night. Now, the big bell in the tower has been silent these many years except every three hours, when it strikes just so people can set their watches. It used to sound all fire alarms, but now it just strikes one stroke at noon, 3 o'clock, 6 o'clock, 9 o'clock and midnight.

When it struck at 11:15 last evening the downtown bar keepers who heard it all had a fright. The license court rules require that bars shall close at 11:45. The soung of the bell impressed them with the idea they had overrun 15 minutes, and there was an immediate scurry to cover. A glance at the clock reassured them.

In one downtown bar room, where the proprietor is particularly careful about observing the rules, it looked for an instant as if there would be an epidemic of apoplexy. The proprietor gasped and thought he could almost hear the revocation of his license. The two German bartenders thought they had worked 15 minutes overtime, and they hurriedly began to pack up. The German waiter at once divested himself of his apron and, grabbing a broom, commenced to sweep out with an energy which showed he wanted to make up the lost time. Then they looked at the clock, everybody looked at his watch, and a general laugh went around. The operator had simply forgotten to throw off his switch.

Railroad and Borough at War.

A battle royal is expected hourly between forces of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company and officials of Homestead borough over the railroad company's attempt to lay tracks along Sixth avenue, for which the borough refused to grant a right-of-way. Yesterday preparations were made to commence the work of laying the track, when the entire Homestead police force and fire department was called to the scene. On the arrival of the borough authorities the railroad company withdrew their men.

STREET CAR LINE DOWN THE VALLEY

New Traction Interests Seek Charters for Companies to Build Through Sewickly.

JOIN BEAVER AND PITTSBURGH

Connection between the Pittsburgh Railways Company's lines at Emsworth and the Beaver Valley Traction Company's line at Conway is sought under the names of six street railway companies which propose to use the Beaver road or Beaver avenue through the Sewickley valley as much as possible. The applicants for the charters are D. P. Black, president of the Real Estate Trust Company; W. H. Keech, W. D. Allison, E. B. Wilson and J. N. Jarvis. The hearing on the applications is set for Friday, June 20. In all 14 miles of line is proposed by the new traction interests.

"The money is already secured for the construction and equipment of the lines," said Mr. Black last evening. "In Economy and Ambridge the roads are under construction and there remains a link of less than one mile through Baden to reach the Beaver Valley Traction Company's line via Conway. At Dixmont we expect to reach the Pittsburgh Railways Company's new line through Emsworth and negotiations are now under way for connections with that system.

"The franchises are already obtained in Ambridge and Economy, where construction is in progress. In due time applications will be made to the other Ohio river boroughs through which it is proposed to build. It is true that there have been one or two other projects of the same kind before these councils, but we have no connection with them.

"The cost of constructing the roads will be approximately $10,000 a mile, and the length of the line, when all are united, will be about 14 miles. A site has already been secured at Economy for one power house. If another is necessary it will probably be nearer the upper end of the line."

The charters are asked under the following names of street railway companies: Ambridge, Edgeworth & Sewickley; Ambridge, Sewickley & Osborne; Ambridge, Dixmont & Emsworth; Ambridge, Osborne & Haysville; Ambridge, Haysville & Glenfield, and Ambridge, Glenfield & Dixmont.

The route of these roads through the Sewickley valley has been for years a traction dream. Its realization has been effectually blocked every time attempts were made to secure franchises, the Pennsylvania Company being generally conceded to be the obstacle to the plans. Over a year ago officials of the Pennsylvania Company themselves started to secure franchises through the valley on the ground that it was essential to prevent dangerous grade crossings, etc., and that the interests of all would be best safeguarded by alliance between steam and electric lines. The Pittsburgh Railways Company has considered the backer of another set of franchise applications, but what has happened to those projects is as yet unknown.

There has been bitter opposition to traction lines in the Sewickley valley from a number of prominent residents there on the ground that it would interfere with the enjoyment of the driveways.

CARING FOR PRISONERS.

Japanese Missionary Writes That Russian Wounded Receive Great Care.

The Women's auxiliary of the Episcopal Church Missionary society met yesterday morning in the church rooms in the Lewis block, with Mrs. Ormsby Phillips presiding. Following a business session, a letter was read from a missionary in Japan which stated that the war had brought new converts to the church.

It told of the great demands the war has made upon the Japanese people and of the willingness with which the demands are met both in sending men to the front and in taking care of the returned sick and wounded soldiers. The letter gave a touching account of the great care multitudes of Russian sick and wounded, who had fallen in the hands of the Japanese, were receiving in the hospitals, and the liberality with which the stricken adversaries were being cared for. The writer stated that the Japanese were making every possible effort to conduct the war along such lines as to meet with the approbation of the civilized world. The Rev. William Wilkinson of Minnesota, was the principal speaker, and sketched the work of the church in the west.

MILK CRUST ON BABY

Lost All His Hair. Scratched Till Blood Ran. Grateful Mother Tells of His

CURE BY CUTICURA FOR 75c.

"When our baby boy was three months old, he had the milk crust very badly on his head, so that all the hair came out, and it itched so bad he would scratch until the blood ran. I got a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. I applied the Cuticura and put a thin cap on his head, and before I had used half of the box it was entirely cured, his hair commenced to grow out nicely again, and he has had no return of the trouble. J. W. ALEXANDER ADORNS LIBRARY

Pittsburgh Artist Will Paint Mural Pictures for the New Institute Building.

LOCAL SCENES IN CAPITOL

John W. Alexander, the Pittsburgh artist who frequently has been honored in the Carnegie art galleries, will paint a number of pictures to adorn the walls of the new Carnegie Institute. Mr. Alexander came to Pittsburgh yesterday to secure ideas for his paintings for the corridors of the state capitol at Harrisburg and was quickly pounced upon by the board of directors of the Pittsburgh Carnegie library, who immediately engaged his services for their building.

Mr. Alexander's pictures will adorn the walls of the eastern corridor of the building leading to the departments of science and art. No definite arrangements have been made regarding the nature of the pictures. Mr. Alexander looked over the plans of the building yesterday and declared they offered extraordinary opportunities for the mural artist.

"I appreciate this invitation as one of very great honor," said the artist last night. "An inspection of the architect's plans shows me that I can have almost unlimited sway for the inspiration of my brush. The calendar of the institute practically enforces the rule that I must have my pictures completed before November, 1906, the date selected for the formal dedication of the buildings. This means that I must lose no time in the contract. I expect soon to be able to announce the scheme which I shall follow in this work.

"Primarily my visit here is to study subjects appropriate for the mural paintings in the state capitol which shall typify the spirit of Pittsburgh and the modern industries of Western Pennsylvania. I shall stop at Johnstown and gather ideas there, and then go up into the primeval forests of the mountains for a few days.

"The pictures, necessarily of course, will be of a historic character. First, I shall paint the forest as it existed in the prehistoric era. Then I shall paint the forest, with the thin column of smoke from the explorer's camp fire. The next will show the settler's humble cabin, and so on. Pittsburgh offers unbounded opportunities for the painter's brush, and several pictures will be devoted to the industrial development as it is shown in these familiar valleys. Each picture will be 5x15 feet, will be painted on canvas and placed on the walls by means of numerous coats of white lead. The danger of plaster cracking causes this method to be employed. By using canvas we gain the advantage of the mural effect without the danger of sagging walls."

Dinner to Department Officials.

G. W. Jewett, general manager of the American Sheet and Tin Plate Company, gave a banquet last night at the Hotel Henry to the heads of the various departments. About 30 were present. Preceding the affair the officials inspected the plants controlled by the company.

BACKUS CERTAIN TO HEAD REPUBLIC

This, Despite Denials of Changes by President Thompson and Col. French.

BIG WIRE PLANT TO BE BUILT

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

YOUNGSTOWN, O., June 8.—The new president of the Republic Iron and Steel Company will be Frank Backus of the American Steel and Wire Company. This is the information which is given out by those on the inside and is absolutely correct. He has been the choice of the dominant party of the Republic for the past two months. He is in Europe at the present time, but is expected back in this country within a short time. With him will come two experts in the wire business who will enter the employ of the Republic.

It is on account of the fact that the Republic will enter the wire business that he has been chosen. Besides, he is considered one of the leading iron and steel men of the country and it is expected that under his regime the Republic will take a place which has never before been expected in the manufacturing world.

It is stated that Col. G. Watson French for some time past has been practically out of the Republic. The denials of President A. W. Thompson and Mr. French that any changes are contemplated are not considered in the matter and there is no question but what every change predicted will come to pass.

Mr. Backus has had a long career and a most successful one in the manufacturing business—especially the wire business. For years he was at the head of the Salem Wire and Nail Company of Salem, O. When the consolidation took place and the American Steel and Wire Company was formed, he sold out to the corporation and was made the general sales agent with headquarters in Chicago. He is still with the United States Steel Corporation.

The extent to which the Republic Iron and Steel Company will branch out into the wire business is only surmised. It is said, though, that the plant which will be built in this city will be one of the largest, if not the largest, in the world. It is said that other improvements will be made and other departments added to the plants here. The fact, as has been stated, that the company is buying up land right and left on the south side of the river in connection with other property held by it, is indicative of what is proposed by the company.

It is said that the plans for the erection of the new office building of the company here have been about all perfected and that the work will be commenced within a very short time. The entire office force of the company, outside of a sales agency and the office of the chairman of the executive committee, which position President Thomson will assume, will be located in this city. As has been stated, the sales agency will go to Chicago and the chairman's office to New York.

APPLICANTS PURCHASE EXAMINATION LISTS

Fraud Perpetrated by Candidates for Commissions in Marine Corps.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—Discovery has been made of the sale of a portion of the papers in the recent examination of 30 civilian candidates for commissions as second lieutenants in the United States marine corps. Gen. Elliott, commander of the corps, stated the facts today in order that the public might be correctly informed.

The examination was held last week. When the examination was nearly completed the president of the board, Maj. Cole, received an anonymous communication enclosing a list of questions on the subject of geography upon which the candidates were to have been examined the following day. The anonymous communication also stated that certain of the candidates had been supplied with copies of the questions in grammar, arithmetic and geometry in which they had previously been examined and in which they made exceptionally high marks. But on other subjects their marks were below the necessary 65 per cent required for qualification. They would not, therefore, have qualified for their commissions, even with the aid of the purchased questions.

The members of the board, upon receipt of the geography examination paper, prepared a new set of questions, which was submitted to the candidates the following day. The members of the examining board thereupon began a rigid investigation, but have found no clue.

Dr. Levy Returns from Washington.

The Rev. Dr. J. Leonard Levy arrived home yesterday from Washington, where he conferred with Mr. Kogoro Takahira, the Japanese ambassador, regarding the probable peace proposals between Russia and Japan. Dr. Levy says that in no case will the Mikado's government consent to peace unless Russia inaugurates formal demands for a cessation of hostilities and restores Manchuria to China. On July 3 Dr. Levy will sail for Japan.

Popular With School Boys.

The school boys of the Allen school, Thirty-first ward, held a demonstration last night in honor of James Young, who was elected superintendent of the school building on Wednesday night, his eighth successive year. He is very popular with the boys in the ward and last night they paraded the streets of the ward to express their satisfaction, burning red fire and roman candles and singing school songs.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY TO GUARD AGAINST WRECKS

Chicago & Alton Railway Will Install on Freight and Passenger Trains a System Which Renders Collisions Impossible.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHICAGO, June 8.—As a further protection to its train service the Chicago & Alton railway announced today that it had made arrangements to establish a wireless telegraph system on all trains running between Chicago and St. Louis, and that eventually the arrangement would be extended to the entire system.

That the wireless telegraph can be used on fast moving trains with entire satisfaction was demonstrated today by the Alton road when messages were sent from Chicago to the officers of the road traveling on a limited train between Chicago and St. Louis. The observation car on the train was equipped with wireless apparatus, and while running 50 miles an hour messages were received from President Felton, who was in the general offices in Chicago, and replies were sent back from the train without the slightest hitch.

"This is the first time the wireless system has ever been used to communicate with persons on a moving train," said President Felton tonight. "By this system the dispatcher will be able to reach any train on any part of his division whenever he pleases. Trains running close together will also be able to communicate with each other, as we shall have telegraph operators on all freight trains as well as on passenger trains. With this system on our trains, we believe it will be impossible to have a collision on our road, no matter what the weather conditions are, as the operators on every train will know the exact whereabouts of every other train on the road.

"It is our intention to handle commercial messages for our patrons to and from moving trains."

TRUE BILLS AGAINST REGAN.

Allegheny Graft Witness Is Held by Beaver Grand Jury.

Two true bills, one for false pretense and one for larceny by bailee, were returned by the Beaver grand jury yesterday against John Regan of Pittsburgh, who is one of the witnesses against Allegheny officials in the graft cases. When the cases come up for trial next week Regan will be defended by Attorneys Marron and James H. Cunningham of Beaver, while Attorney Thomas Marshall and Buchanan & Barnett of Beaver will assist District Attorney J. B. McClure with the prosecution.

Regan is alleged to have leased a boat for club purposes from John Miller of Pittsburgh. When through with it he sold the boat to I. N. Grim of Rochester. When Miller learned of this he went to Rochester and took the boat. Miller is the prosecutor against Regan for larceny by bailee and Grim is the prosecutor in the false pretense case. The value of the boat was $200.

BOARD WANTS FAMOUS OLD SPRING PRESERVED

Seventh Ward (Allegheny) Residents Adopt Resolution Asking the City to Buy the Property.

Residents of the Seventh ward, Allegheny, will ask the city to purchase the Voegtley farm in Robinson road in order to preserve the old spring opposite the new ward school house. The spring has been one of the famous watering places in Western Pennsylvania for over a half century. Because of the buildings and other improvements being made on the old farm the residents fear the water supply will become contaminated or shut off altogether.

At a special meeting of the ward school board last night a resolution was presented by Dr. I. N. Lear, president of the board, asking the city to secure the farm, which contains about 10 acres, before the spring is spoiled. The meeting was attended by a large number of people and the resolution was received with applause. Dr. Lear appointed Joseph Blank, ex-Councilman Henry A. Herchenroether, Select Councilman George Geltz and Common Councilman John M. Reimenschneider a committee to confer with Director Edward J. McElvain. The committee will ask the director to have an ordinance presented in councils for the purchase of the old farm for park purposes and have the mouth of the spring beautified.

It was decided to hold the annual school picnic on the Haslage farm.

NEW FIRMS GET CHARTERS.

Kittanning China Plant Is Taken Over by New Concern—Bridge to Be Built to Brunots Island.

The plant of the Wick China Company at Kittanning, which was recently sold at public sale, will shortly be reopened and operated by the Pennsylvania China Company, a new corporation which received its charter from Harrisburg yesterday. The new concern is capitalized at $10,000, and the directorate is given as follows: H. O. Sherrad, W. A. Steinmeyer, E. R. Ewing, John G. Vollmer and James S. Crawford.

What is thought to be a move to facilitate transportation to Brunots island, by establishing a spur of a traction line from McKees Rocks to the island, was the granting of a charter at Harrisburg yesterday to the Pittsburgh and Brunots Island Bridge Company with a nominal capitalization of $5,000. The directors are given as C. S. Cochran, David E. Davis, Lawrence Schnapp, Charles Barnett and J. B. Miller. W. R. Miller, who is attorney for the new company, stated last night that it is proposed to erect an iron bridge at an early date, but he refused to affirm or deny the report that the traction company would utilize the bridge.

The Riggs-De Long Company secured a charter to conduct a general theatrical business. The firm consists of Charles F. Riggs of New York, and Charles F. and Frederick De Long, of McKeesport. The new firm has secured a lease of the Casino theater in Asbury Park, where it will conduct summer opera this season and has purchased road rights to the opera of "Floradora," which it will tour next season. The capitalization is given at $5,000.

The Buckingham Hotel Company was chartered yesterday and will take over the property of the Buckingham hotel at Craft avenue and Kenneth square. The nominal capital is $5,000, and among those mentioned in the directorate are Edward Hoopes and D. L. Parkinson of the Iron City Trust Company, and Ralph Longenecker.

ESPEY HEIGHTS

South Pittsburgh Land Co.'s Plan in the Heart of the Mt. Lebanon District

Acknowledged By All to Be the Most Beautiful Suburb of Pittsburgh

LOTS 35, 40 AND 50 FEET FRONT BY 100 TO 145 FEET DEEP

Graded Streets, Sidewalks, Gas, Building Restrictions and City Water Within 2,000 Feet.

READ THIS STATEMENT of ABSOLUTE FACTS

BE WISE---INVESTIGATE FOR YOURSELF AND SEE IF EVERY WORD IS NOT THE TRUTH.

Mt. Lebanon District

The New East End

The Mt. Washington Tunnel has opened to the market the most beautiful property in the vicinity of Pittsburgh. This is a fact acknowledged by all who have traveled over the Mt. Lebanon or Charleroi Traction cars. For the last five years real estate has been steadily advancing in price and demand in this section faster than in any other section in the vicinity of our great City. A number of plans of lots have been placed upon the market and quickly sold, greatly to the profit of those who have invested their savings in this section.

This district is one purely residential, as near to the heart of the City as Oakland, and yet so securely shut off from the dirt and smoke of the City that, living there, you would not know there was a great, prosperous City within ten minutes' ride.

It was the common expression by the people who, a few years ago were familiar with the Mt. Lebanon district, that had it not been for that insurmountable barrier, "Old Coal Hill," this Mt. Lebanon district would have been the fashionable part of Pittsburgh. Engineering progress has overcome that difficulty and "Old Coal Hill" is no longer a barrier, but a screen.

Board a Mt. Lebanon via Beechwood or Charleroi car and you are whisked out of the smoke, dirt and clangor of a busy City into the pure air and sunshine of the country, and all in less time than it takes to scan the headlines of your daily paper. Why should your family live in the heat and dust of the crowded City, when you can give them the pure air and sunshine the Almighty intended for them?

Espey Heights

The Choice Home Site

Espey Heights is a large high tract of table land 1,250 feet above sea level by United States Survey, commanding one of the most beautiful views in Allegheny County, and is situated on the Mt. Lebanon & Castle Shannon Street Railway line one mile nearer the City than the celebrated old Mt. Lebanon Church. These cars via Beechwood and the Charleroi cars pass the plot and the Mt. Lebanon & Castle Shannon cars via West Liberty pass within two squares. On either cars Banksville Avenue is the stop.

Espey Heights is practically an Annex of the Espey Farm Plan laid out and sold three years ago where lots which sold then at $450 are now selling for $900. It is an actual fact open to your most thorough investigation that the persons who bought in this plan adjoining the one now offered have doubled their money, and then only the West Liberty car line was in operation and the tunnel was not begun.

Now the South Pittsburgh Land Company offers you large, level lots in a plan adjoining this proved money-maker, within 15 minutes of the City by three different car lines on a five cent fare, at a price below the price of lots in this adjoining plan three years ago. Think of it! Nearer to the Postoffice than the nearest part of East End.

Espey Heights, right in the heart of this beautiful residence section, is surrounded already with houses costing from $3,000 to $7,000. Several costly homes are being built now by purchasers in this plan. Negotiations are closed for a public school within a square of the plan. Building restrictions protect you. We will furnish you all the financial aid you need in building. All you need to do is buy your lot. We will furnish the rest. We offer you more for your money than any other plan in the vicinity. Investigate it and see for yourself. Come out and put yourself among the list of the lucky ground floor purchasers. Why pay rent when every month this might bring you nearer a home of your own in this new East End.

Prices $175 Up to $550. A Few Extra Large Lots a Little Higher

Terms, 5% Down. 2½% Per Month. 10% Off for Cash. No Interest. No Taxes.

Opening Day, Saturday, June 10--Come Out. We Pay Car Fare

REMEMBER THIS—We cannot afford to sell our whole plan at these prices, and only 50 lots will be sold at these prices. Don't miss being one of the lucky fifty.

SEALED VERDICT IN GRAFT CASE

Lieut. John G. Boland and Officer Fred Trautvetter Are Charged With Extortion.

FEW OF MARRON'S HOT SHOTS

The highest act of government is the doing of public and private justice, and that can only be done where there is some effort on the part of officers of the law to preserve good order.

The people have a right to demand of them constant enmity to the criminal.

We only ask that the law be upheld; that law which keeps your daughter from becoming a bad woman and your son from becoming the consort of bad women.

"The remarkable phase of this case is its confessions.

Do you want the disorderly house? If so, say not guilty.

Fity the waters did not rise high enough in Allegheny to settle the whole tenderloin question.

Fred Trautvetter asleep is not Fred Trautvetter protecting the tenderloin district.

"Hello, Hattie!" "Hello, Freddie!" Is that the conversation and familiar manner of a sworn protector of the law to a lawbreaker?

In the meantime the laws of Pensylvania are being strangled by the throat. He confesses he wanted to protect her from the law, and if you can't believe his confession, what evidence must we bring before you?

They stand for a type; teach them all by your verdict that they cannot trample the laws of this great commonwealth under foot.

The above are a few of the epigrammatic sentences of Attorney John Marron in his closing address to the jury in the cases charging Police Lieutenant John G. Boland and Policeman Frederick Trautvetter of Allegheny with extorting $38.75 from Mrs. Lucy Hopkins to settle a criminal suit that had been entered against her by Hattie Shannon, now married, but who at one time had been an inmate of her disorderly house. District Attorney Stewart and Attorneys Marron and Haymaker appeared for the commonwealth, and the defendants were represented by Attorney J. Scott Ferguson and W. J. Brennen. The case went to the jury shortly after 4 o'clock, and two hours later it returned a sealed verdict, which will be opened this morning.

Judge McClung's Charge.

Judge McClung's charge was conceded to be strictly impartial, and was one of the best heard in the criminal court for some time. It occupied but a few minutes. His honor, after stating to the jury what the indictments contained, defining the meaning of extortion and reasonable doubt, said that while the commonwealth alleged the woman was selling liquor without a license, yet if Boland did settle the case by getting the money from Hampton, paying the costs and returning the balance, it was not extortion. If, on the other hand, the woman's story is true, his act was extortion. Under his own confession, the court said, he was guilty of gross impropriettes, but that was not extortion. The court also stated that Trautvetter must have got part of the money and remained in the transaction to be guilty; that the mere suggestion that the case be settled or request that it be done was not extortion on his part, however improper it might have been. If Boland got the money from Hampton, that settles the case and he is not guilty. If he got it from Mrs. Hopkins then, the court said, the jury had an entirely different case. It was purely a question of fact. Would the jury believe the woman or the defendants? On that rested the case.

Did Not Want to Argue.

Attorney Ferguson, after the defense rested, agreed to submit the case without an argument, but the commonwealth said it would discuss the case. This compelled Mr. Ferguson to address the jury. He called attention to the fact that Hampton was summoned, but could not be found, and that it was the sworn duty of the district attorney to have Hampton in court. He said further:

"There is only $16.60 in this case unaccounted for, and this is one of your graft cases. Where is Hampton? Why don't they produce him? We tried to find him and could not. There is not a single scintilla of evidence in this case to convict either man, and it is not reasonable to ask an intelligent jury to render such a verdict on the testimony of a reformed woman, who writes letters to her old associates, talks of the good times she used to have, and then comes here and pretends to be of a different character. I am not going to say anything about their witnesses, but I want you to remember that we threw the character of these defendants open to attack on the part of the commonwealth, and if they could show one thing against either of them they would have been only too glad to have done so. At the end of every one of Mr. Marron's sentences ask him, 'Where is Hampton?'"

Jury Fixers Ordered Away.

There was little trouble in selecting a jury. To avoid confusion the court ordered the attendance limited, only persons directly interested being admitted to the courtroom. County Detective Robinson toured the courthouse corridors and admonished known jury-fixers to leave quickly or run the risk of being arrested. One of them was a well-known politician.

The jurymen accepted were George Floth, W. V. Taylor, Patrick Martin, Henry Rutter, G. W. Gardner, John C. Graff, John Moran, George H. Truck, D. A. Foster, Henry Little, Sr., Henry Manns and Daniel Berg, Sr.

Lucy Hopkins said that in February or March, 1904, she was living at 411 West Lacock street and was running a house at 208 West Lacock street, where liquor was sold. Trautvetter came to the house and told her of a suit to be entered against her by Hattie Shannon. He said he would see if he could fix it up. That night he came back and said he could fix it for $60. She told him she had no money and he left. The next day she was arrested on a warrant issued by Alderman David McKelvey. She met Boland and Miss Shannon at the Alderman's office. The woman gave her evidence and the case was postponed for two days.

Said Prosecutrix Was Stubborn.

Boland told her Miss Shannon was stubborn, but he would do what he could to effect a settlement. They went to the house of the witness, and while Miss Shannon was packing her clothing the witness gave Boland $30, borrowing $20 of it from her sister. Boland returned afterward and demanded $3 50 that was in a savings bank. She gave it to him and also gave up 25 cents for an apron he said was missing.

On cross-examination she was asked several questions about a man named Hampton with whom she formerly lived. He had been with her at Alderman McKelvey's office and at her house when Lieut. Boland was there. She denied that Hampton gave the money to Boland and repeated that she had given it herself. To Mr. Haymaker she said she never heard of the case after paying the money and to Mr. Ferguson she denied that she gave the money to pay the costs, asserting that it was to fix up the suit.

Hattie Shannon swore that after she had sued Mrs. Hopkins, Trautvetter called on her and asked her to withdraw the suit. She refused. Boland also wanted her to drop it. After the hearing she told Boland that she had $2 50 in a savings bank and he got it for her.

Lou Harris, a sister of Mrs. Hopkins, said she gave $20 to the latter and saw her give it to Boland. Grace Douglass told of Trautvetter calling on Miss Shannon to get her to drop the case. Mary Rollin and Rose Wilson were called, but gave very little evidence.

Judge Exposes a Legal Fallacy.

Mrs. Hopkins was recalled and denied having had a conversation at the alderman's office with Boland before the hearing, but testified she saw the Shannon woman in conversation with the lieutenant. She testified she had not asked Boland to accompany her to McKelvey's office or to her home. Mary Rollins had tesified to the contrary.

Attorney Brennan objected to this, saying: "He cannot contradict his own witness."

Judge McClung said: "He can contradict any witness to get the truth. That is a fallacy among lawyers that never had any foundation in law."

The witness then stated that Boland attended the hearings on his own account and went to the Hopkins house of his own accord.

The prosecution offered in evidence the two informations made by Hattie Shannon against Lucy Hopkins and rested its case.

Here Attorney Ferguson desired the Trautvetter end of the case abandoned, but District Attorney Stewart said the evidence warranted the case going on against both defendants.

Attorney Brennen, opening for the defense, said Boland visited the alderman's office at the request of Hattie Shannon and to the Hopkins house because he was asked. He admitted that Boland got $30 from Charles Hampton, the money being used to pay costs at the alderman's office, and the balance returned to Hampton.

Policeman Trautvetter Testfies.

Trautvetter said the Shannon woman met him on the street and that she said she had sued Lucy Hopkins. He testified that Hattie Shannon had said she would withdraw the suit if she had the money. He admitted calling on Mrs. Hopkins at Hampton's request. He denied he had asked for $60 with which to settle the suit, and said he personally had not got a cent.

While Boland was on the stand in the afternoon he got confused as to the alleged presence of Lou Harris in the Hopkins house when he called there and got $30. First he denied her presence and afterwards said she was upstairs. He had merely been told she was there. Boland said he had not seen Hampton since last Sunday, though, formerly, he saw him frequently.

Five or six character witnesses were summoned and spoke favorably of both defendants, though some admitted they did not known what the conduct of the defendants might be in the tenderloin.

CLAIMS SYSTEM IS IN OPERATION

Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Co. Fight Injunction Asked by East Pittsburgh.

JURY FINDS VERDICT IN BOX

Judge Shafer heard the argument for an injunction brought by the borough of East Pittsburgh against the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company to prevent the defendant from entering the borough. The court took the papers and will decide the question in a few days. Attorney John S. Weiler for the Telephone company notified the court that no action would be taken until after a decision had been given. The point for the court to determine is whether the Telephone company has entered the borough under an ordinance granted by which it was, within a year, to have its system in the borough. The borough officials claim this has not been done; that not a pole has been erected or a wire strung in the streets. The company argued that it has at least 300 subscribers in the borough and will give service to all who make application. This is accomplished by a working arrangement with the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, by which it connects with its private system. The borough officials claim the system does not give the citizens the opportunities for using the service as contemplated by the ordinance.

Judge Kennedy sentenced Constable Koralefski, a Hungarian, to five years in the workhouse. Koralefski had been tried and convicted of assaulting Mary Schnieder, 3 years old, at her home in Pike street, the jury returning a verdict without leaving the box.

Bertha Howard was acquitted of a charge of stealing jewelry and clothing from L. M. Stanley of McKeesport.

Charles King, colored, was sentenced three years to the workhouse for robbing a house on Elm street and stealing $75 and a pair of pants.

Other cases disposed of were: Joe Wozash, felonious assault, three years to the workhouse; Milan Trobawish, felonious assault, one year to the workhouse; T. D. Jones, entering a building, one year to the workhouse; Fannie Hustin, felonious assault, two years to the workhouse; John Goings, illegal liquor selling, three months to the workhouse; Fred Conley, false pretense and misdemeanor, $25 and costs and two days to jail.

The following true bills were returned by the grand jury: Forgery, Charles Kramer; larceny, A. R. Jones, George Vavil, Howard Hall, Howard Mowbry, William Painter, William Cunningham, William Slagel, James Morris; illegal liquor selling, Frank Leibold, Martin McManus, Mike Kemarich, John Marish, John Fusarello, Baleste Betoni, Giovani Fridi, Lucien Mathal; larceny by bailee, Annie Eicher et al., Felix Chizanovisky, George Easterhamer, Ella Phillips; embezzlement, William Stewart, L. W. Wilson; aggravated assault and battery, G. B. Wilmer, Miller Steele; felony, Dominick Urse, Mathew Wilkinson; carrying concealed weapons, James Lobert; assault and battery, J. B. Flick, Paul Hendreth; malicious mischief, Z. B. Filch; misdemeanor, Adam Dietz, Moritz Gross, Frank Joy, Fred Reuner, Michael Schoepper.

John F. Miller and others entered suit against the Pittsburgh & Connellsville Railroad Company, asking $6,000 damages. They allege the railroad has entered upon their property in Fort Perry for the purpose of widening its tracks.

Executions issued: P. V. Bevinsek & Co. vs. Dr. Milan Kovacevic, Peter Pavlinac, N. V. Milnes, Horta Urzolo, Joseph Cubasic, the Rev. Frank Giolnacio and Mrs. Marta Rundlo, $130 10; M. W. McDonald, agent, vs. Robert and M. E. Bulmer, $266 18.

HENRY JAMES IS BITTER.

Well-Known Novelist Tells College Girls That Newspapers Are "Black Eruptions of Type."

PHILADELPHIA, June 8.—Henry James, the novelist, was the guest of honor and orator today at the commencement exercises at Bryn Mawr college. He chose for his subject "The Question of Our Speech."

Mr. James plead for tidy speaking and a cultivation of perfect tone. "The newspapers and common schools," he said, "are influences which keep our speech crude, untidy and careless. The newspapers are nothing more than black eruptions of type and they roar like monsters—like maniacs breaking loose."

PRECEDENT IS SET IN THE EPISCOPAL CHURCH

NEW YORK, June 8.—A special meeting of the house of bishops of the Protestant Episcopal church began here today to elect a coadjutor to Missionary Bishop Hare, of South Dakota. The Episcopal church has never before elected a coadjutor bishop to assist a missionary bishop, but the general convention of the church at Boston last October passed a special canon to meet the case.

RITCHEY'S CLEVER PLAY SAVES THE GAME FOR THE PIRATES

AMES SUFFERS FIRST DEFEAT

Pirates Even Up With Giants. Not Many Hits Made, but They Count for Full Value.

GREAT PLAY BY RITCHEY

The Pirates evened up with the champion Giants by taking yesterday's game 4 to 1 before a crowd of 7,810 spectators. It was the first defeat the Giants have suffered with Ames as their pitcher, he having a record of nine straight victories. The game was cleanly played all the way and there was little grumbling at the work of Umpires Johnstone and O'Day, whose decisions were alike pleasing to players and spectators.

Claude Ritchey, better known as "Little All Right," gave the cleverest kind of an exhibition of heady ball playing, that got the Pirates out of a tight pinch in the eighth inning. Browne, the Giants' right fielder, opened the inning by driving the ball against the score board, and it counted for a three-base hit. McGann was given a base on balls and the Giants prepared for a rally, which, however, was neatly nipped in the bud by Ritchey, much to the delight of the large crowd.

Bresnehan, who followed McGann at bat, lifted up an infield fly, which Ritchey got under. Instead of catching the ball on the fly he trapped it and then shot it to Howard at first, who touched McGann and then touched the base, completing a double play. Of course, the Giants kicked on the decision, but Umpire O'Day ruled that the play was proper and both players were out. Mertes followed with a fly, which Clymer gathered in, and Browne was left on third. Ritchey's heady play was cheered to the echo by the crowd and the player given quite an ovation when he walked in from the field.

While Clancy was at bat in the second inning, he attempted to make a sacrifice bunt and was struck with the ball and the third finger of the left hand was broken. This forced his retirement from the game, Howard taking his place, and his work was one of the features of the game. He took good care of all that came his way and at bat smashed out a three-bagger in the fourth inning that brought Wagner in with a run, Howard himself scoring later. The Pirates are lucky to have such a capable substitute.

Ames' use of the spit ball was really accountable for two of the runs scored against his team, as he made several wild pitches, one of which almost put Umpire Johnstone out of business. It happened in the sixth inning, and the umpire was so badly injured that the game had to be delayed for some time to allow him to recover. The Pirates did not get many hits off Ames' delivery, but they made every hit count for all it was worth.

Charley Case was the Pirates' pitcher and he put up a grand display and was backed up by the fastest and cleanest kind of playing by those back of him. There was only once that Case was in a really tight spot, and that was in the eighth inning, when Ritchey's clever play helped out nicely. Case not only pitched well, but he fielded his position in great style and took good care of all of the Giants' attempts for bunts. The work of Peltz back of the bat was also a pleasing feature, and the visitors were afraid to take any chances on the bases.

The Pirates were the first to score, Wagner bringing in the tally in the second inning. Hans led off with a stinging single to middle field and took second on Howard's tap. Ames got the ball and tried to head Wagner off, but his throw was too late, and both runners were safe. Wagner scored on Leach's two-base hit to right. The Giants evened up the score in their half of the fourth, when, with one out, Mertes drove the ball to right center for three bases and scored on Devlin's fly-out to Beaumont.

In the Pirates' half of the fourth the locals got after Ames and made things warm for him, getting just one-half their hits and scoring two runs. Wagner opened the inning with a safe drive to right for one base and Howard followed with a drive to the left-field bleachers, which counted for three bases, and on which Wagner scored. While Ritchey was at bat Ames worked the spit ball and made a wild pitch, which allowed Howard to score the run of the inning. The Pirates' fourth and last run was scored in the sixth inning by Beaumont, who led off with a safe hit, took second when Wagner drew a base on balls, stole third and scored on another wild pitch by Ames.

During the afternoon some excitement was caused by the discovery of a blaze under the bleachers back of first base, caused by a spectator throwing a lighted match among some waste paper, but it was quickly extinguished. An over-enthusiastic spectator also caused annoyance by his actions in the grandstand, and was ejected by the police, but not without trouble, as he resisted interference and had to be dragged from the stand. KEEPING WATCH ON THE MIDVALE

Armor Plate Orders Soon to Be Filled May Revolutionize the Business.

PROCESS SECRET IS SECURE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU
Room 10, Postal Building.
WASHINGTON, D. C., June 8.

Officials of the ordnance bureau of the navy department are awaiting with interest the test of the first group of armor plates submitted by the Midvale steel company of Philadelphia under the contract awarded about a year and a half ago. This contract was for about 6,000 tons and the bid of the Midvale company was $44 a ton, on class A armor, less than that of the Carnegie steel company and the Bethlehem steel company. Under the terms of the contract the Midvale company is not required to begin deliveries until August 1 of this year, but last winter it notified the department that its new armor plant had been installed and that it would be ready to submit the first group in May. This it has not been able to do, but it is expected that within the next two weeks it will begin deliveries.

In January the Midvale company submitted a test plate which was shot at Indian Head proving grounds and found to be of such quality that it would have passed had it represented a group of armor. This demonstrated that the company could make armor that would stand the government's ballistic tests, but the secret of the process by which it is to be made remains unsolved.

Process Not Important.

When asked today if they had any knowledge of the process employed by the Midvale company naval officials stated they had not. They protested that they were not interested in the process, but only in the results. From the reports of the inspector stationed at the Midvale company's plant the navy officials are confident that the company will be able to make armor that will come up to the specifications.

At present the manufacturing world knows of but one method of making class A armor that will stand the government's tests, and that is by the Krupp process. This process is a secret one, controlled by the great Krupp concern at Essen, Germany, and used in this country exclusively by the Carnegie and Bethlehem companies by paying a royalty to the Krupp people of $22 a ton. This royalty is really paid by the United States government, and is in addition to the price bid on armor by these companies. But the bid submitted by the Midvale company said nothing about royalties or premiums, and therefore the only conclusion to be drawn from that fact is that either the Krupp secret has come into possession of the Midvale company or else a new process of face-hardening armor plates has been discovered.

Means Millions to Government.

Either explanation, if found to be a fact, means millions of dollars to the government, and will possibly result in a revolution of the armor plate industry. If Midvale has secured the secret and is permitted to use it in the manufacture of plates it is certain that the other two armor producers will not continue to pay royalties to the Krupp concern for its use, if a new process has been found for making armor plates, by which the Midvale company is independent of existing patents or rights, then there remains nothing for the Carnegie and Bethlehem companies but to meet the prices quoted by the new competitor.

The Midvale company has made a number of plates, and when it submits a test plate that test will be followed soon by others. There is a strong probability that the next congress, influenced by the result of the great naval battle in the Korean straits recently, will authorize two, and possibly more, first-class battleships, and in that event Midvale will be in a position to bid for the required armor. It will be surprising, however, if the first deliveries under the present contract are not followed by litigation to test the right of the company to use patented processes. L. W. STRATER.

The Truth about Whiskey.

"Bottled in bond" whiskey must be bottled in a U. S. government bonded warehouse—The distillery premises are bonded. Notwithstanding the fact that before the whiskey goes into the bottling house the tax must be paid, it remains under bond and under absolute government supervision until it has been removed from the distillery premises; and before this is done the stamps must be affixed, guaranteeing the proof of the whiskey, the quantity in each package, the age of the whiskey, and the fact that NOTHING HAS BEEN ADDED OF A FOREIGN NATURE.

Bottled in Bond whiskey is pure, its quality depends on how it is made.

Blended whiskey is pure if it is a blend of good straight whiskey. Gibson's Pure Rye Whiskey, whether "Straight" (bottled in bond) or "Blended" is always pure and always good—the best raw materials that money can buy and the most scientific distilling make it so, and it never is anything but Gibson's Pure Rye Whiskey.

Summit Park

Residence Sites, 100x200 Feet Fronting on Car Line, For $750---20,000 Square Feet at 3¾ Cents Per Square Foot.

There they are—our prices in black and white. Take a ride on any car line out of Pittsburgh, or on any railroad, in any direction, get off in 35 minutes and ask what the best residence lots are selling for.

We can save you the time and trouble by telling you at once you cannot buy a lot 100x200 feet for twice the money.

We can give you the original prices of every plan of lots put on the Pittsburgh market in the past 10 years, and we can show you that the present prices in Summit Park are without precedent.

As to character and location, Summit Park speaks for itself. All we ask of you is to come out and look at it.

It is beautiful, level land within the 5-mile radius of Pittsburgh, and only 35 minutes' ride from downtown on the main line. What more can you ask?

Improvements? Well, you have graded streets, sidewalks, water, gas, the telephone, and just as soon as conditions warrant it will have a complete sewer system constructed on the most improved lines. Library Avenue, the main street in Summit Park, is macadamized for 10 miles through beautiful country and you cannot find a finer driveway anywhere.

New York, Boston, Philadelphia, all of the large cities both east and west are ahead of Pittsburgh in the matter of suburbs. Why is it?

Large lots, building restrictions, modern improvements and convenient location bring good residents, and good residents enhance the value of the land.

There you have the Summit Park idea in a nutshell. Ten years from now this property will be selling at $50 to $75 per foot, and the lot you buy today for $750 will be worth from $5,000 to $7,500. It is the safest and surest investment the world has to offer.

Besides, you have a beautiful home, with room for grass and trees, for a garden and stable and chickens—surroundings which almost every man pictures to himself as the ideal residence.

Look them all over—but hold on to your money till you have seen Summit Park. That is all we ask.

Prices: Lots 100x200, $750; 100x250, $750; 75x180, $575; 50x140, $375. Terms: 10 per cent cash, 3 per cent per month; 10 per cent discount for cash in 60 days. No interest and no taxes till lot is paid for. Every title insured.

Take Charleroi car at Third Avenue and Wood Street. Come out tomorrow or Sunday. Express cars leave 9 minutes after the hour. Get off at Summit Park Station in 35 minutes.

MARK TWAIN SAYS HE WILL NOT REVISIT RENO TO CRY

In Letter in Which Wit and Pathos Are Quaintly Mingled, He Refuses Invitation to Come Back to His Old Haunts.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—Mark Twain will not revisit Reno, Nev., although he has been urgently invited to attend the Fourth of July celebration there. He refuses to go "and cry, because it would not become my white head." The invitation stirred his memory of the days he spent in the Rockies in the early 60's. He sent a characteristic letter of regret, in which he says:

"I remember as if it were yesterday that when I disembarked from the overland stage in front of the Ormsby in Carson City, in August, 1861, I was not expecting to be asked to come again. I was tired, discouraged, white with alkali dust and did not know anybody; and if you had said then, 'Cheer up, desolate stranger; don't be down-hearted—pass on and come again in 1905,' you cannot think how grateful I would have been and how gladly I would have closed the contract.

"Although I was not expecting to be invited, I was watching out for it, and was hurt and disappointed when you started to ask me and changed it to 'how soon are you going away?' for I was an orphan at that time and had been one so many years that I was getting sensitive about it.

"But you have made it all right now, and the wound is closed. And so I thank you sincerely for the invitation, and with you, all Reno; and if I were a few years younger I would accept it, and promptly. I would go. I would let somebody else do the oration, but as for me I would talk—just talk. I would renew my youth and talk—and talk—and talk—and have the time of my life.

"I would march the unforgotten and unforgettable antiques by, and name their names, and give them reverent hail and farewell as they passed: Goodwin, McCarthy, Gillis, Curry, Baldwin, Winters, Howard, Nye, Stewart, Neely, Johnson, Hal Clayton, Jones, North, Root and my brother, upon whim be peace; and then the desperadoes, who made life a joy, and the 'slaughter house' a precious possession; Sam Brown, "Farmer Pete," Bill Mayfield, "Six-Fingered Jake" Jack Williams and the rest of the crimson discipleship—so on; so on.

"Believe me, I would start a resurrection it would do you more good to look at than the next one will, if you go on the way you are doing now.

"Those were the days, those old ones—but they will come no more. Youth will come no more. They were full to the brim with the wine of life. There have been no others like them. It chokes me up to think of them. Would you like me to come out there and cry? It would not become my white head."

THEATRICAL MANAGER GOES TO THE TOMBS

Makes Test of Suit Brought by Critic Who Charges Conspiracy.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 8.—Charles M. Burnham, manager of Wallack's theater, having been formally committed to jail today by Magistrate Pool, as one of the 22 managers who were held on charges of conspiracy for denying James S. Metcalfe, a critic, entrance to their theaters, at once obtained from Judge Clarke, of the supreme court, writs of habeas corpus and certiorari to review the action of the magistrate. By agreement between Terence McManus, representing Mr. Burnham, and Assistant District Attorney Kroes, the argument was postponed until June 19. Mr. Burnham being paroled in the custody of his counsel.

In his petition for the writ Mr. Burnham states if there was any exclusion it was entirely voluntary on the part of the individual managers of the theaters, and no compact or agreement was entered into by the members of the association requiring them to exclude Metcalfe from any theater; nor was any coercion, intimidation, threat or violence or persuasion exercised by any of the members to induce his exclusion.

Burnham declares he and the other members of the association had, under the law, a right at will to exclude Metcalfe from any of their theaters; also a constitutional right to peaceably assemble, inquire into and discuss matters deemed by them to affect or pertain to their business, or personal interests of any character, and freely and peaceably to give utterance to their sentiments and judgment thereon.

BALTIMORE COMES TO PITTSBURGH

Big Deal Involving Schloss Bros. & Co. and a Well Known Local House.

A NOTABLE TRANSACTION

An Instance Showing Wherein Pittsburgh Enterprise and Ready Cash Were Irresistible.

In spite of the repeated assurances of our national prosperity, a number of firms throughout the country have been obliged to alter their plans materially in order to meet the issues presented by the prevailing abnormal condition of business.

Schloss Bros. & Co., of Baltimore, well known as manufacturers of highclass clothing for men, found themselves in a very undesirable predicament.

The unfavorable weather that has prevailed in all parts of the country greatly lessened the demand for their product, and in consequence they discovered that they had the choice of sacrificing a large part of their spring production or keeping the goods till next season. Of course, they could not seriously consider the latter course, as no progressive manufacturer will permit his goods to remain in stock from one season till another.

So the firm in question immediately sent representative to The Liberty Clothing Co. of this city with instructions to accept almost any price offered for the entire spring stock on hand, and after considerable figuring a deal was closed by which the Liberty Clothing Co. secured the most remarkable bargains that ever came to a Pittsburgh concern.

The price paid was, in every instance, a mere fraction of the value of the goods.

Everybody, at least every man, knows about Schloss Bros. & Co. They are the manufacturers of the finest tailor made clothing in America. Their clothing is really superior to three-fourths of the merchant tailor made garments.

The lowest priced suit Schloss Bros. & Co. make is made to sell at $15 and they make them to sell at $20 a suit. But go and see for yourselves. Then you will appreciate what real high-class tailoring is.

This gigantic purchase enables the Liberty Clothing Company to sell these suits to the public for a great deal less than the cost of the cloth. The Liberty Clothing Company has divided the whole shipment into four lots at the following prices: $7.98, $8.98, $9.98 and $10.98.

At $7.98 you have your choice from 800 suits in single and double-breasted styles, in fancy mixed Scotches, cassimeres and blue serges. There is not a suit in the lot that is worth less than $15.00.

At $8.98 there are about 650 suits in all the new effects. Some of these are half lined, others full lined, all hair cloth fronts and hand padded shoulders and hand filled collars.

For $9.98 you have your choice of a variety of materials, including imported worsteds, single and double-breasted styles. These are regular Schloss Bros. $25.00 suits.

At $10.98 you take your choice of the finest summer suits. You could not duplicate one of these suits elsewhere for less than $25.00 to $35.00. You have a variety of imported flannels, fine worsteds, genuine Blarney tweeds, feather weight homespuns and English crashes to choose from. They are half and quarter lined. This is a great boon for the fine dressers of Pittsburgh.

Remember, the sale starts this morning.

Don't delay a minute, as this is positively the most tempting sale of clothing ever held in this city.

Samples of these garments are shown in our windows, with the prices plainly marked on the tags.

You Could Save

by having your Cleaning and Dyeing done at LINNEKIN'S.

Think what this saving means to you.

And that is not all; 20 to 25 per cent less will be charged by us than by others—and the work will be done better.

Ladies' and gentlemen's garments can be so thoroughly renovated as to completely restore their original newness and freshness.

Our wagon will call or you can leave your work at our nearest office.

FIR

IN HANDY AUTOMOBILE BRIDE AND GLOOM FLEE

Ironically Salute the Charivari Party Intent on Decorating the Bridal Carriage.

There was a sound of revelry in Philip Steiner's house in East McKeesport yesterday afternoon. Without stood a carriage. Within the house Miss Alice Steiner had just become the wife of William C. Larimer. The carriage was in course of decoration by dear friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Cowbells hung on the axles and trailed on the ground. The horses were decorated with ribbons; ribbons streamed from the windows and from the coachman's seat; old shoes festooned the carriage and placards hung all over the rig told who the bride and groom were and where they were going. Hoi polloi on the other side of the street looked on and grinned. Everybody was chuckling as they thought of the consternation of the young couple when they should behold the circus wagon in which they were to be driven to the station.

A sudden series of blasts on a horn startled the jokers. They looked up and saw an automobile speeding toward them. The machine slowed up for a moment and the crowd saw Mr. and Mrs. Larimer, not at all flustered, sitting in the automobile. The couple bowed gracefully as the machine, with accelerated speed, fled by the decorated carriage. Hoi polloi guffawed, but not at the bride and groom.

The machine belonged to William C. Larimer of Swissvale, a cousin of the groom. He had attended the wedding with his wife and left his machine in the rear of the house. There William C., the groom, spied it, and being no slouch of a chauffeur himself, lifted his wife into the seat and sped away to the railroad station via the front of the house. The carriage was driven back to where it came from, but no joyous cortege of charivari artists escorted it. They had fled, disappointed.

The ceremony was performed at 3 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents by the Rev. William Porter, pastor of the East McKeesport Presbyterian church. About 80 guests were present. The maid of honor was Miss Fannie Steiner, a sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids were Miss Elizabeth Seabout, Miss Grace Vegler, Miss Rose Logan and Miss Irvine Steiner, the latter a sister of the bride. The bride wore white Persian lawn, trimmed in lace and carried white roses. The maids wore white, with pink sashes, and carried pink sweet peas. Mr. and Mrs. Larimer left for the east. They will live in the East End. Mr. Larimer is connected with the Crucible Steel Company.

TWO MORE CHANGES ON WABASH SYSTEM

C. V. Wood Becomes Superintendent of Local Division and Patterson Steps Out.

The arrival of B. A. Worthington, the new vice president and traffic manager of the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railway Company, in Pittsburgh tomorrow, will be signalized by wholesale changes in the operating department of the Pittsburgh division of the Wabash. Last night J. W. Patterson, Sr., second vice president and chief engineer, packed up and left his office, and at the same time it was announced that radical changes would be effected in the local division, which henceforth will be constituted by the West Side Belt road and the main line between Pittsburgh and Rook. Another division will be formed by the line of the Wheeling and Lake Erie, between Pittsburgh and Mingo Junction, and the portion of the road between Rook and Mingo.

C. V. Wood, who at present is superintendent of the West Side Belt, will have charge of the Pittsburgh terminal division with offices in the Wabash station. H. W. McMasters will be superintendent of the Southern Wheeling & Lake Erie division with headquarters at Canton. The new officers will enter upon their duties within a few days.

An official circular has not as yet been issued regarding Mr. Patterson's resignation going into effect, and he was too busy yesterday afternoon with his moving day proceedings to verify the report. He delegated his chief clerk to meet all visitors and to say that the rumor was correct.

Mr. Worthington will spend two or three days in Pittsburgh and will go to Chicago to meet his family preparatory to establishing his home in Pittsburgh. Next week he will meet President F. A. Delano here, and at that time it is probable that an official announcement will be made as to Mr. Patterson's successor as chief engineer.

ESTEEM FOR THE POPE.

President Roosevelt Receives a Personal Representative of Pius X and a Rector of Buffalo.

WASHINGTON, June 8.—President Roosevelt received a call today from Archbishop Francis Allion Symon of Rome, a personal representative of the pope and a special papal visitor to the United States authorized to investigate the conditions of the Polish Catholic church in America with reference to the creation of additional bishoprics for that branch of the Catholic church. The Very Rev. John Pitass, rector of St. Stanislaus church of Buffalo, also called on the president.

The president expressed a desire to Archbishop Symon that he convey to the pope his sentiment of esteem, friendship and good will. He hoped, likewise, that the archbishop's visit to the United States might prove pleasant and profitable.

HONOR IRISH SAINT.

O'Growney Gaelic Society Holds an Old-Time Celebration.

A genuine Irish entertainment was provided last evening in Central Turner hall by the O'Growney Gaelic society of Pittsburgh in the celebration of the feast of St. Colmcille. The entertainment was designated as the "Feis Cecil Agus Searchas Agus Rimtee," which means feast of music, story and dancing.

The occasion served to honor the memory of Colmcille, a saint who was exiled on the rock-bound shore of Iona because of his love for Erin. The performance was largely attended and the proceeds will be devoted to the Gaelic league to further its endeavors for the preservation of the Irish language upon native soil.

LOWTHER CHOSEN SPEAKER OF HOUSE OF COMMONS

This is the first time since 1833 that the Conservatives have been able to put one of their own party in the chair. After the election the house adjourned until June 20.

SOCIETY

THE garden party and baby show at "Newington," the home of Mrs. L. Hasley Williams, in Shields, yesterday afternoon, was in every respect a success. The baby show was for a time the center of attraction, a large number of youngsters from the city and valley having been entered for the prizes—a silver cup for the boys and one for the girls. The winner of the boy's cup was Alexander Laughlin Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. William C. Robinson, of Allegheny. A close second was William B. Schiller, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William B. Schiller, of Pittsburgh. The girl's cup was won by little Miss Betty Murray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William N. Murray, of Pittsburgh. Miss Amelia Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lorin Johnson of Washington, D. C., was second. There were all sorts of amusements. Refreshments were on sale, and at the booths, where useful and ornamental articles were displayed, there was always a crowd of patrons. Several firms in Pittsburgh had donated articles. The affair was to benefit the Woman's Industrial exchange in this city, and a special train carried a large number of women and children to and from the city. DID A WORLD OF GOOD

MADE A HAPPY MAN OUT OF A MOST WRETCHED DYSPEPTIC.

The Tonic Treatment Cured Mr. Miller of Stomach Disorder, Heart Pains, Dizzy Spells, Weakness.

Easy to get, hard to get rid of; that is what most sufferers think of dyspepsia. They are astonished when their stomach begins to trouble them seriously. They can't think of any adequate cause. Everything was going all right, when suddenly it began to go all wrong.

They had been eating hurriedly and irregularly for a long time, to be sure, but they supposed their stomach quite used to that. Why should it give out all at once and make them restless and sleepless and faint and dizzy?

The situation is simply this. They have used up the strength of their stomach just as a man may use up his capital in the bank. Everything goes on just the same until the money is all gone; then, suddenly, he is in trouble if he does not know how to find more cash right away.

Some people know that the strength which the weak stomach needs, and for the lack of which the whole body is suffering, can be found surely and quickly in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a preparation known in medical circles as the greatest blood and nerve tonic.

"My indigestion," said Mr. Miller, "came in the first place from the fact that, a few years ago, I worked a great deal at night, and ate at any odd hour whenever the chance came, and always very hurriedly. One day I found myself a victim of terrible dyspepsia. It kept me miserable all the time for several years. Sometimes the doctor's medicines would help me for a little while, but they were never able to conquer my ailments."

"What was your chief trouble?"

"I always had a great deal of distress after eating, and when I got up from my sleep my stomach would be so weak that it would hardly take any food. I had very uncomfortable feelings about my heart, and was dizzy and, whenever I stooped over and then straightened up, my eyes would be badly blurred."

"When the doctor failed to cure you, what did you do?"

"I looked around to find a remedy that had actually cured somebody else, and I was lucky enough to stumble on the statements of several persons who had got rid of obstinate stomach troubles by using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I bought some and they did me a world of good. They acted promptly and did just what was claimed for them."

"Have they rid you of your ailments?"

"I have no more distress after meals; the bad feeling has gone from the region of my heart; the alarming dizzy spells have disappeared, and I am strong again. I take the pills occasionally yet as a tonic, and am always ready to give them the highest praise."

The home of Mr. J. R. Miller is at Dayton, Va. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained at any drug store. They can be used with safety for any length of time, as they contain no harmful drugs. A diet book of great value to dyspeptics can be had free by writing to the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

DULLEST DAY THIS YEAR IN NEW YORK STOCKS

Southern Group of Railroads the Strongest, but Price Changes Were Small—Oil and Gas the Strongest Pittsburgh Stock.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

Yesterday was the dullest day of the year on the New York stock exchange. The market might be described as one of progressive dullness. There was a little display of activity at the opening, based upon the higher London quotations, which were in response to rumors of peace negotiations. After the first hour, however, trading became almost stagnant. Price changes were unimportant, except in a few specialties which are not regarded as guides to general conditions.

The Southern railroad group of stocks was the strongest, the buying in Southern railway common, Louisville & Nashville and Atlantic Coast Line being conspicuous because of the absence of trading in the remainder of the list. Two of the principal granger stocks, Atchison and St. Paul, which should benfit from improvement in the wheat crop, closed fractionally lower. Union Pacific closed ¼ and Southern Pacific ⅛ per cent higher. One-half of 1 per cent covered the fluctuations in Pennsylvania, and that stock closed unchanged for the day. Baltimore & Ohio closed ½ per cent higher. Ontario & Western rallied nearly a point on a rumor that the dividend might be declared this month instead of next month. The traction stocks closed a fraction lower.

In the industrial list Amalgamated Copper rallied to 80 in the early dealings, but later sold off to 79½ and closed at 79¾, a gain of ⅝ for the day. United States Steel common closed ⅛ lower, while the preferred closed unchanged. American Smelting also closed unchanged. The largest decline was in American Steel Foundries. The common broke to 8½ and the preferred to 40¼, the latter closing at a net loss of 5 per cent. The sales of stocks for the first two hours reached only 175,000, and for the remaining three hours were less than 100,000 shares.

Aside from the peace rumors there were no developments during the day to affect values. A story which was given wide publicity that a new "impropriety" in Equitable Life affairs had been discovered which involved $10,000,000 had very little effect. It was intimated that the New York state banking authorities were investigating the matter, but these reports were denied. It is probable that the story grew out of a paragraph contained in the report of the Frick investigating committee and heretofore overlooked. This report described with some detail the custom of the society of making advances to agents; of the action of insurance commissioners of several states in refusing to admit these loans as assets, and of the transfer of such accounts after such refusal to banks and trust companies. In a tabulated statement the Frick report showed that on December 31, 1904, the amount of these loans to agents, secured by "the uncertain factor" of the total value of an agent's annual renewal interest, was $7,227,824.71, of which sum $1,514,639.90 was shown on the society's report and $5,513,184.87 was carried by trust companies.

There was a little flurry in the call loan market during the afternoon, due to the calling of loans in connection with the Japanese bond flotation and the depositing of $60,000,000 by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. in various banks to the credit of the Japanese government, but the rates for call loans closed at 2½ to 2¾ per cent.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England showed the insignificant increase of $185,000 in loans, while the percentage of reserve to liability remained practically unchanged. The Bank of France reported a decrease of $23,515,000 in loans and an increase of gold and silver of about $500,000. Foreign discount rates remained unchanged.

The only important price change on the local stock exchange was a jump to 69 for Pittsburg Oil & Gas and a subsequent reaction to 68, leaving a net gain of 2 per cent for the day. The movement was based upon the report that the new test well of the company in the Butler oil field had started flowing at the rate of 45 barrels an hour. The other oil and gas stocks remained unchanged. Pittsburg Coal common was fairly active, declining from 18 to 17⅝ and closing at 17½ bid. The preferred closed unchanged at 75. River Coal common sold at 10, and the bonds were unchanged at 111½. Lustre Mining closed higher at 20⅝ bid, while Tonopah Extension continued weak, declining to $4.40. The steel stocks were almost neglected, and quotations were unchanged. There were no transactions in any of the Westinghouse issues and prices remained nominally unchanged. The Air Brake directors declared the usual quarterly dividends of 2½ per cent regular and 2½ per cent extra, and the stock closed at 142½ bid.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

In harmony with the tendency in some high-finance circles stock brokers are "resigning" themselves to the inevitable and do not look for any resumption of activity in the market until the harvests are under way. Under conditions like those prevailing one usually hears the trite remark that "stocks are in strong hands," and that there is no selling pressure. This is absolutely true at the present time, so far as investment securities are concerned. The completeness of liquidation and the absence of selling pressure accounts for the comparative stagnation of the markets at home and abroad. Reverse conditions would be accompanied by active markets and declining values. The only thing that would renew liquidation would be a higher money market, based upon increased demand or shock of confidence. Confidence has been pretty well tested during the past two months, and the supply of money continues in excess of the demand. An incentive to higher prices would be favorable crop conditions for the next six weeks. As an accurate forecast of the weather over that period is impossible, the market is likely to remain dull and narrow.

There were no transactions yesterday in any of the Westinghouse stocks on the local exchange, and no sales of Electric in New York. Airbrake closed nominally quoted at 142½ bid. There were no offerings of the stock. The directors declared the usual quarterly dividends of 2½ per cent regular and 2½ per cent extra. A few weeks ago a report was published in New York that the extra dividend was likely to be increased to the old 3½ per cent rate, and the report was based upon the plausible statement that earnings during the quarter would show a large increase over the corresponding period last year. While the company does not issue quarterly statements of earnings, it is no doubt true that there was an increase, since the airbrushing industry has been very active. But the action of the directors yesterday disposed of the report that the rate would be increased.

Some of the holders of River Coal preferred stock are looking forward to the declaration of a semi-annual dividend this month. Their expectations are based upon the fact that navigation during the six months of the fiscal year was free, and that the forwarding of coal to southern markets and that industrial conditions within this period have been favorable to the local trade. In the corresponding period last year floods and ice gorges were followed by six months of low water, and throughout the whole fiscal year 1904 industrial depression prevailed. The dividends on River Coal preferred are not cumulative, and last year stockholders received only 1.24 per cent, instead of 7 per cent for each previous year.

The action of the market for Pittsburgh Oil and Gas yesterday was a reminder of the old days when many brokers had scouts in the field to report developments by the numerous oil and gas companies then in operation. Pittsburgh Oil and Gas stock, which sold at 64½ earlier in the week, jumped to 69 on rumors that the last well of the company in the new Butler pool had come in at the rate variously estimated at from 500 to 1,200 barrels a day. The other stocks of this group were unchanged.

A rumor that the dividend on Missouri Pacific would be reduced to a 4 per cent basis hardly got started before the directors met and declared the usual semi-annual rate of 2½ per cent. There was but one transaction in the stock market at 97.

The Farmers bank of Indiana, Pa., has declared a semi-annual dividend of $4 per share, and added $5,000 to the undivided profits account.

The Bankers' Trust Company has applied to have its stock listed on the Pittsburgh stock exchange.

American Snuff directors declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred stock, and 2½ per cent on the common stock.

American Tobacco directors have declared a dividend of 1½ per cent on the preferred stock, payable July 1.

United Shoe Machinery directors declared the regular quarterly dividends of 2 per cent on the common and 1½ per cent on the preferred, payable July 15.

The directors of the Bank of Brushton have elected M. S. Brandt as cashier to succeed T. Dean Clark, who resigned to accept the cashiership of a bank in Vandergrift, Pa. Mr. Brandt is at present connected with the Franklin Savings and Trust Company.

Preston, Watt & Schoyer sold 500 shares Pittsburgh Coal common to Speer Brothers. They were also sellers of the preferred.

There was some selling of the Steel stocks, influenced by the monthly pig iron report, showing an increase in May production and an addition to unsold stock.

The total anthracite coal tonnage in May was 6,006,158 tons, the largest in the history of the trade, against 5,256,079 tons in May, 1904, the tonnage for the month being 29,079 tons.

The Consolidated Indiana Coal Company has sold to New York bankers $2,500,000 5 per cent bonds guaranteed as to interest only by Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway Company. The bonds have sinking fund based on royalty on the coal mined, which will look after the principal at maturity. Consolidated Indiana Coal Company is organized in interest of Rock Island.

The New York exchange took the first formal step yesterday in the direction of testing the Hughes anti-bucket shop law. A broker was arrested, charged with selling the entire and undivided seven shares of stock of a certain railroad corporation without making any bill or memorandum or without affixing any stamp to the stock or in any way paying a tax as required by the act of the legislature. The stock exchange will defend the broker and carry the case to the highest court.

To supply the northwest with soft coal is the vast project of the Rock Island system, and arrangements for doing it are now practically completed, according to a Chicago dispatch. Through other companies organized for that purpose the Rock Island interests have secured a large number of mines in Illinois and Indiana, has thousands of acres of undeveloped coal lands and has options on other lands. It is known that the Rock Island interests were back of the consolidated Indiana Coal Company, which was incorporated last month at Augusta, Me., with a capital stock of $4,000,000.

The Union Bag and Paper Company directors have decided to authorize the issue of $5,000,000 25-year 5 per cent bonds, the proceeds of which will be used for acquiring additional timber lands, making additions to its plants and machinery, refunding its floating debt and increasing its working capital; only $3,000,000 will be issued now. Of this amount a syndicate has underwritten $1,200,000, and the remaining $800,000 will be given in payment for timber properties and $2,000,000 will remain in the company's treasury.

Although the prospect for peace is attributed to the initiative of the American government, the influence of the financial world in this matter by the stock market is of the most tangible character. The uplift of prices was purely sympathetic with London and the actual transactions for foreign account were insignificant in amount. The small selling attracted by the higher range of prices, however, invited some additional weakness to materialize in the week-end speculation. The efforts centered on a handful of stocks among the coalers and southern railroad and including Amalgamated Copper. The operations in the southern group were attributed to a newly-formed pool. Very favorable showings of gross earnings being made by railroads in that region were made the basis of the movement. The large production of anthracite is a favorable factor for the coalers. These movements attracted no important following.

The peace rumors made the Japanese bonds strong. The New York bond market generally was dull and steady. Total sales, par value, $3,720,000. United States 2s registered advanced ¼ per cent on call.

The rise in call money rates was attributed to the redistribution of funds on deposit which are the proceeds of the Japanese loan subscription among various financial institutions and the intimation was conveyed that these funds are likely to be left on deposit in New York for an indefinite period. Discount rates declined in London and foreign banking bodies were reported as placing loans in this market. Stock commission houses also have funds to lend, owing to the extreme dullness of the stock market. The hardening of the call money rate was regarded as purely temporary. But a somewhat stiffer tone was reported for time funds, and the likelihood of higher money rates in the fall is not without influence in causing the almost total stagnation of the stock market.

The $137,000 of bonds authorized by the voters of Braddock at a recent election, and which were later sold to N. W. Harris & Co. of New York, will be taken by the purchaser today. The proceeds will be used in improving the sewerage and water system and paving streets. A premium of $4,500 was paid.

STORE BUILDING FOR EAST END

Vincent, Scott & Co. Buy Corner Site and Will Erect $75,000 Structure.

MORE DOWNTOWN DEALS

A $75,000 modern store building will be erected at once at the northwest corner of Penn avenue and Beatty street. Nineteenth ward, as the result of a sale made yesterday by James B. Lawler of the East End Savings and Trust Company. The owners will be the firm of Vincent Scott & Co., which has bought from Leopold Vilsack 61x145 feet, extending back to Kirkwood street, for $75,000. The site is vacant now, the buildings on the lot having been torn down last September. The present quarters of the buyers are at 6023 Penn avenue, two squares farther east, where they have less than one-half the room needed for their business. Work on the new building will be started at once. It will be a fire-proof structure and probably the best business block erected in East Liberty since the Vilsack building was completed.

The East End Savings and Trust Company has also closed the sale of the John F. Prager property in O'Hara township to John E. Kane. The property consists of 38 acres of land with a frame house on it, and is located one mile back of Aspinwall, astonling the holdings of Robert C. Hall and only a short distance from the Delafield farm which is being made ready for market. The price is $13,000 and the property will be held for an investment.

One More Market Street Sale.

Through the Commonwealth Real Estate Company another Market street lot has been sold, making the third property in that street that they have marketed within a month. The last sale is the S. A. Reed holdings at 104, purchased by S. Golden and J. Schein for $26,500. The lot is 20x80 feet and has on it a four-story brick building which usually rents for $1,500 a year. Mr. Golden will occupy one-half of the building as a furniture store and the remainder has been rented. Evidently investors are looking with considerable favor upon Market street realty lately as indicated by this sale and the sales of the Nelson property at 109 for $30,000 and the Crossman holdings at Nos. 5 and 7.

The Safe Deposit and Trust Company has finally closed the sale of the Annie Hinze property at Penn avenue and Twenty-first street, which was articled for several weeks ago and had to be approved by grantor's wife. The consideration is $91,200, and the buyer proves to be Charles McKnight. The property has a frontage of 48 feet in Penn avenue with a depth of 200 feet to Liberty avenue, where it faces 96 feet. A number of old houses stand on the plot.

James T. Hitchman has bought from Nevin A. Cort a five-sixths interest in a property 20.8x72 feet, on the south side of Third avenue, near Redoubt alley, for $18,500. At this rate the property would be worth $22,200, or about $1,100 a front foot. An old brick house is the only improvement.

The Orchard Trust Company, trustee for the estate of Glukoff & Co., has transferred to H. C. Burchinal 70.5x120 feet on the north side of Penn avenue and extending back to Mulberry alley, Twelfth ward, for a consideration of $100. The lot, which is near Twenty-eighth street, has a frontage of 112 feet in the rear and is improved with a modern three-story brick store building. The purchaser assumed four mortgages of $55,000, $18,000, $3,667 and $700.

$27,500 for Wylie Avenue Block.

Through the Aronson Realty Company the McCracken building at 1009 Wylie avenue has been sold to a downtown produce and commission merchant for $27,500. A four-story brick structure now stands on the lot, which measures 24x108 [illegible]. The new owner will occupy the property with his business.

An offer of $[illegible] is said to have been made recently for the Hampton law building, on the east side of Grant street, between Fourth avenue and Diamond street. James H. Hall has the property, which consists of a three-story brick office building on a lot 24x120 feet. The Young Men's Tariff Club has a long lease on the property.

There is considerable speculation going on among brokers as to the cause of the movement in property in Liberty avenue just beyond Highland street. Options have been sought within the last few days on several pieces east of Smithfield street on the south side of the avenue, and the prices offered show that some one is in the market to buy who has a definite idea of what he intends to do with the lots if he gets them. The site would make an excellent one for a hotel or store building and will be greatly improved when the Pennsylvania tracks are removed.

Mt. Lebanon an Imaginary Center.

The number of imaginary street car lines that have been run to the Mt. Lebanon district during the last years makes an interesting study. Time and again real estate brokers have been startled into renewed activity in getting options on large lots of property in the belief that they have inside information as to the exact location of some proposed line. Franchises have been sought by rival interests and there has been every indication that one or more lines would be built. Yesterday another line was announced to head for that section by way of Bon Air. Last Monday two franchises that have been held tight in committees in the West Liberty and Carrick councils were quashed by a vote of those bodies. Now there come rumors that the line long ago proposed from Mt. Lebanon church to Carnegie or some point near there, is the most likely to be built this year. Property owners near Mt. Lebanon say that the entire district is literally covered with stakes which are supposed to mark out different routes. There is no doubt that another line will be built from the city to a point near Mt. Lebanon within a year, and it is not unlikely that another tunnel will be put through Mt. Washington. If this is done the tunnel will in all probability be for wagons as well as for traction service, as the need of such a roadway under the hill is apparent now. If such a line is built, or if the line from Mt. Lebanon to the Panhandle is put through this year, frontage in the Mt. Lebanon district will be greatly benefited.

Big Allotment for Greensburg.

Greensburg is getting metropolitan in a real estate way and within a month a plan of over 200 choice lots will be put on the market in real Pittsburgh style in anticipation of a Greater Greensburg. Councils have already been asked to consent for a greater town and a vote of the citizens will be taken shortly. The suburbs of Greensburg at present contain more people than the town itself, and with all of them annexed as proposed the population of Greensburg would be fully 18,000. It is in West Greensburg, one of the most attractive residence spots around the town, that Bair & Lane, the leading real estate firm of Greensburg, are preparing to put on the big allotment. They propose to spend $30,000 in improvements, which will include cement pavements and curbs, granolithic sidewalks and water and gas connections. The line of development for two years has been in the direction of this property, and toward the fine home of the Hon. George Huff as well as those of a number of Pittsburghers who have bought farms and turned them into magnificent summer homes. The property is sold in only a half-mile from the center of town, and will be introduced to the public by the Protzman-Farrar Company of this city.

All records for real estate prices in Greensburg were broken a short time ago when Bair & Lane bought for a well-known investor the old Covenanter church near the center of Main street for $58,000, or just $1,000 a front foot. It is reported that two squares from the new court house being erected, and the price paid for it shows the enhancement in values that has followed the court house project.

Minor Realty Deals.

Wellesley avenue: John S. Ferguson sold to Mitchell Brotherson an improved lot, 21x60 feet, on the south side of Wellesley avenue, near Redoubt alley, for $18,500. At this rate the property would be worth $22,200, or about $1,100 a front foot. An old brick house is the only improvement.

Orchard Trust Company, trustee for the estate of Glukoff & Co., has transferred to H. C. Burchinal 70.5x120 feet on the north side of Penn avenue and extending back to Mulberry alley, Twelfth ward, for a consideration of $100. The lot, which is near Twenty-eighth street, has a frontage of 112 feet in the rear and is improved with a modern three-story brick store building. The purchaser assumed four mortgages of $55,000, $18,000, $3,667 and $700.

Penn: J. Hitchman has bought from Nevin A. Cort a five-sixths interest in a property 20.8x72 feet, on the south side of Third avenue, near Redoubt alley, for $18,500. At this rate the property would be worth $22,200, or about $1,100 a front foot. An old brick house is the only improvement.

Patterson street: Jacob Engle sold to Henry Bornemann an improved lot, 40x128 feet, in Patterson street, Twenty-seventh ward, for $2,700.

Watt street: G. W. Heeter sold to H. Anderson an improved lot, 44x70 feet, in Watt street, Thirteenth ward, for $3,000.

Thomas F. Ford purchased, through the Thomas F. Ford Realty Company, from W. P. Getty, his entire holdings, consisting of 14 lots in the Bellevue Side plan, fronting in Summit avenue, Bellevue. Mr. Ford will at once begin work, grading and otherwise improving the property to put it on the market with restrictions that will insure a strictly high-class residence district. This is one of the most important deals recently consummated in Bellevue, and as these holdings now pass into strong hands only such improvements will be made as to warrant rapid enhancement of values.

The Daughters of the American Revolution were allowed a building permit yesterday for a custodian's lodge to be built on the Block house lot at the Point. It is to be a two-story brick dwelling 16x28 feet, containing four rooms, and to cost $3,200. Other permits were issued to S. Eby for a two-story brick dwelling on Dahlia street, Twentieth ward, to cost $15,000; H. J. Lynch two two-story brick dwellings on Evaline street, Twentieth ward, to cost $12,000; W. G. Eckert two-story frame dwelling on Susquehanna street, Thirty-seventh ward, to cost $2,200, and A. H. Horne two-story frame dwelling on Graham street, Nineteenth ward, to cost $2,700.

LOCAL MARKET PRICES ON THE DOWN GRADE

Figures Are Generally Lower on Green Goods and Fruit, but Groceries Are Firm.

Despite the fact that wheat is weaker, flour has made no change yet and the quotation is the same as has prevailed for several days. Some shading is going on, but the market appears firm enough at the present figure. There is a fair demand, but not what might be called a good business, as the price is much too high for any extensive purchases. At the mills this condition is particularly noticeable. Mills are running very slack and are scarcely selling the flour they grind.

In green goods and domestic fruit there are general reductions. Cherries are decidedly cheaper, due largely to the fact that plenty of the home-grown are now coming into the market. Strawberries are also on the down grade and the receipts are arriving in much better shape than they were a week or 10 days since. New potatoes are as cheap as old ones, considering the size, and green peas, beans and all manner of green truck has sustained a decided reduction. Green corn is down to 30 cents a dozen. Blackberries, in 32-quart cases, are selling at $3 and $3.50.

Butter is a little firmer than last week, but another reduction next Monday is probable. The cheese market is still on the down grade and another quarter cent was taken off chalk creams yesterday. Wisconsin, block and brick are also cheaper. Eggs are as firm as ever, with no immediate prospect of a cut.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania—19 cars hay, 15 cars oats, 4 cars feed, 5 cars corn, 1 car straw. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie—9 cars hay, 3 cars oats, 1 car corn. Baltimore & Ohio—3 cars hay, 1 car corn.

Light receipts strengthened the market yesterday, but there were no changes in quotations. The conditions are much the same as have prevailed all week. Good hay is in demand, with plenty of the lower grades. Oats are firm and mill feed high. Straw is taken readily at full quotations and the receipts are short.

GET ANOTHER GUSHER IN THE BUTLER FIELD

Starts Off at 40 to 45 Barrels an Hour—Assures a Northwest Extension.

Interest has again revived in the fourth sand pool, west of Butler, by the drilling in of another gusher. Yesterday morning the Southern Oil Company, the producing branch of the Pittsburgh Oil and Gas Company, drilled in its No. 1 on the O. K. Waldron farm, about 40 rods east as soon as the pay was tapped the well began to flow with great force. George Porter, superintendent of the Midland division of the South Penn Oil Company, was at the well yesterday morning, shortly after it was drilled in, and stated on his arrival at his office in Pittsburgh that the well was in every way similar to the McBride gusher and was flowing through two 1¼ inch lines at the rate of 40 or 45 barrels an hour.

This well coming in a gusher gives an assurance of a northeast extension, and as one operator expressed it, "makes it look like the Southern Oil Company held about as many leases as to the pool." Nearly all of that company's leases lie to the northeast of the gusher. Those who were inclined to question T. N. Barnsdall's judgment when he, as president of the Pittsburgh Oil & Gas Company, advised the purchase of the McBride gusher and the leases now admit he judged well. Later the Jhnsen farm to the northeast was leased at a bonus of $6,000, and this farm lies on a 45-degree line northeast, and unless the producing formation chops off very abruptly, should prove a winner. The old well is holding up at 50 barrels an hour, and its production added to the new gusher, gives the Southern Oil Company more than 1,500 barrels a day from the two. The Southern Oil Company will be due in the sand at another well tomorrow. It is on a 12-acre piece of the Hartung farm, and about 500 feet southwest of the McBride gusher. If locations count for anything then this should be a good producer.

West of the McBride gusher the Associated Producers Company has drilled its test on the Barrickman farm through the sand and has a show for a very light pumper. The hole filled up a few hundred feet with fluid and it will be given a shot. The T. W. Phillips Oil and Gas Company's well on the Barrickman 10 acres is producing about 200 barrels a day, while cleaning out. Southeast of the gusher 660 feet, Douthett, Graham & Co. will be due to get the sand the first of the coming week, at a test on the Lemon farm.

Light wells and dusters were the rule in the lower southwest and southeastern Ohio fields. In the Pine Grove extension, in Wetzel county, the South Penn Oil Company has drilled its No. 7 on the T. J. Morris farm 22 feet into the stray sand and the hole has filled up 1,500 feet with fluid. Near Sedalia, Doddridge county, the Hope Natural Gas Company has drilled its test on the George Ashcroft farm through the Gordon and has a fair gasser in that formation. West of Manhington, Marion county, in the 20-foot development, the Freehold Oil and Gas Company gave its No. 1 on the Benjamin Grubb farm a second shot and it produced 175 barrels the ensuing 24 hours. In the same district the Delmar Oil Company gave its No. 8 farm, the S. J. Lee and A. C. Mays farm the same treatment and it responded by producing 250 barrels the first 24 hours. Near Hebron, Meade district, Tyler county, the Carter Oil Company has completed its No. 8 on the M. Downing farm and has a 15-barrel producer be Cord Bow sand.

In the Elm Run district, Ritchie county, the Salina Oil Company has drilled its No. 11 on the J. P. Marshall farm through the salt sand and has a duster. In the same district, Alfred & O'Dell have drilled their No. 3 on the Elden Hall heirs' farm through the Big Injun sand and have a duster. Near Elizabeth, in the same county, C. E. Gerwig's No. 3 on the James McClay farm has about finished cleaning out and produced 135 barrels the last 24 hours' gauge.

In the Newport district, on the Ohio side, Washington county, the Empire Gas and Fuel Company has drilled its No. 6 on the J. Strasburg farm through the Berea grit and has a show for a 10-barrel producer. In the same district, James Morrison & Co. have drilled their No. 8 on the A. Friedal farm through the same formation and have a show for a 50-barrel producer. In the Marietta district, the same county, the Cresent Producing Company has completed its test on the Morgan Phillips farm and has a show for a 5-barrel pumper in the first Cow Run sand.

In the Hays Run district the Associated Producers Company has drilled its test on the L. Steinhoff farm through the Big Injun and has a duster. It is now drilling to the Berea grit. In the Wolf Creek district the Fure Oil Producing Company has drilled in its No. 10 on the James Cook farm and has a show for a nice producer.

In the Hopedale district, Harrison county, Jessel, Lee & Co. have completed their test on the H. Copeland farm and have a show for a light pumper in the Berea grit. In the same district the Big Four Oil Company has completed a test on the Leslie Copeland farm and has a five-barrel pumper in the same formation. In the Barnesville district, Belmont county, the Ohio Oil Company has completed a second test on the W. C. Paulton farm and has a light pumper, not good for more than two barrels a day, from the Berea grit. In the Leetsdale district, Columbiana county, the Devonian Oil Company has completed a test on the easterly farm and has a small gasser in the Berea grit.

EIGHT-HOUR LAW APPLIES TO CANAL

Attorney-General Moody Gives Opinion as to Laborers in Panama.

AFFECTS GOVERNMENT WORK

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 8.—The opinion of Attorney General Moody regarding the application of the eight-hour law on the Isthmus of Panama was made public today. He holds that the act of August 1, 1892, which limits and restricts to eight hours the daily service of laborers and mechanics employed by the government of the United States, or by any contractor or sub-contractor upon the public works of the United States, applies to the employment of laborers and mechanics in the construction of the Panama canal.

The act, however, the attorney general holds, does not apply to the office force of the Isthmian canal commission stationed on the Isthmus of Panama, or to any of the employes of the government who are not within the ordinary meaning of the words "laborers and mechanics." Also that the scope of the act is not limited by the territorial jurisdiction of congress, but is co-extensive with the subject-matter to which it was directed, to-wit, the conduct of officers and agents of the United States in respect to the hours of labor of mechanics and laborers upon all public works of the United States. Congress, he says, may fix the hours of labor upon all the works of the United States, wherever conducted, and make the law binding upon the officers of the United States and, through the agency of contracts, upon all contracts with the United States.

In answer to the request of the secretary of war for an opinion upon the additional question of whether the provisions of the act mentioned apply to the hours of labor of "mechanics and laborers" employed in the construction maintenance and operation of the Panama railroad and steamship line, the attorney general decides in the negative, and says:

The act of August 1, 1892, prescribed an eight-hour day for laborers and mechanics employed by the government of the United States, by the District of Columbia or by any contractor or sub-contractor upon any of the public works of the United States or of the said District of Columbia." Upon the facts stated by you those who are in the service of the Panama railroad and steamship line are not "employed by the United States;" they are employed by the corporation itself. Nor does the corporation appear to be "a contractor upon any public works of the United States." I am, therefore, of the opinion that the act in question does not apply to laborers and mechanics in the employment of the Panama railroad and steamship line.

As to whether the eight-hour law applies to that class of employes whose services are necessary before and after the regular hours of work such as engineers who must get up steam in the morning before the regular hours begin and clean the machinery after the day's work is done, the attorney-general says:

It is believed that giving to the words the meaning which is ordinarily accepted for them, and bearing in mind that the act should not be extended beyond its plain terms, the commission will have no difficulty in determining in each case as it arises whether the employe is a laborer or mechanic or whether his duties are such as to warrant some other designation of his employment.

Attorney General Moody has written a letter to the secretary of war giving his views on the general subject of peonage which, it is intended, will assist the executive committee of the Isthmian canal commission in making its contracts for the furnishing of labor in digging the canal, to avoid a condition of involuntary servitude under the authority of the United States. The attorney general quotes section 1 of the 13th amendment to the Constitution which inhibits slavery or involuntary servitude, and then says that wherever the jurisdiction of the United States extends there the prohibitions of this article accompany it. In the course of his discussion of the subject, Mr. Moody says:

It is stated that the commission proposes to import oriental aliens under contract to perform labor on the canal. The condition of such laborers is not necessarily one of involuntary servitude, but it may be, and in fact, usually is, a condition of involuntary servitude limited in duration. This is clearly shown by an examination of the relation of the laborer to his employer, which has come to be described as coolyism in the various parts of the world where it exists.

In the employment of labor upon the canal the utmost care should be taken to exclude the conditions which have been indicated as those of involuntary servitude or any other conditions of like effect or tendency. The care should be exercised not only in making the contracts to which the United States is a party, but in scrutinizing the contracts, usages and practices between those who agree to furnish contract labor to the United States and the laborers themselves. What rules, regulations, officers and inspectors may be needed in order that the employment of labor may not be violative of the thirteenth amendment may well be left to the discretion of the commission.

ZEALOUS POLICEMEN.

They Obey Orders and Ordinances and Provoke Disgust of Director Bigelow.

Director Bigelow was instrumental some years ago in having ordinances passed prohibiting vehicles for general haulage being driven through the parks. Now the monkeys in the zoo have been going without dessert for several days, for the wagon hauling the nuts which were to regale the simians was halted by a park policeman because it was a vehicle used for commercial purposes.

The policeman is known as a zealous officer who several times has been praised by the director for halting wagons bearing freight. The director, however, was disgusted when the policeman obeyed orders yesterday and had held up a wagon conveying two bags of nuts to the monkeys in the zoo in Highland park. The director first knew of the incident when the wholesale grocer who had the contract wrote him that the nuts could not be delivered because of the policeman's zeal.

New Plan Near Mt. Lebanon.

The South Pittsburgh Land Company, having its city office at 608 Frick building, have placed upon the market a new plan in the Mt. Lebanon district, Scott township, called "Espey Heights."

The plan is a tract of table land 1,250 feet above sea level by United States survey and commands one of the most beautiful views in Allegheny county. It is located on the Mt. Lebanon via Beechwood Street Railway line, one mile nearer the city than the old Mt. Lebanon church and adjoins the Espey farm and Lebanon Heights plan, laid out a few years ago. The company, realizing the demand in this section for large lots, have subdivided their tract into lots 35x40 and 50 feet front by 100 to 145 feet deep. The streets have been graded, sidewalks laid, and negotiations are on foot to have city water, which is now within 2,000 feet, extended to the plan. Gas is now there. Building restrictions insure a good class of homes, and three costly homes are now being built on the plan by lot purchasers.

Prices range from $175 to $750, and the lots, no doubt, will soon be picked up by persons desiring homes of their own. The school board of Scott township have closed negotiations for a school site within a square of the plan, and a school building will be built this summer. The plan is also reached by the Charleroi car line and the Mt. Lebanon & Castle Shannon cars, via West Liberty, pass within two squares of the plot. On either line Banksville avenue is the stop.

Fashion acclaims fine Split and Sennit Straw Sailors as correct.

For those who look to me for exclusive novelties I have a new rough straw imported from Japan which is known as Fuseyana.

Another nobby hat is our rough Pineapple straw. The brim is finished with a sawtooth edge and trimmed with a London hat guard.

If you are not influenced in your choice of a hat by what everyone else wears, select a rough straw.

2½, 2¾ and 3-inch crowns with 1⅞ and 2-inch brims are the nobby styles.

3¼x2¼ and 3½x2⅜ are the sedate styles.

Style and comfort are admirably combined in our handsome soft brim straw hats.

We've been extra careful this season to get more style to these comfortable but usually very ordinary looking hats with the result that we have flexible straw hats that even young men will wear.

Best Straw Hats are $4, $3 and $2.50. Next best at $2, $1.50 and $1.
